Thin Majority Seen In British Euromart Vote

LONDON (AP) — Political insiders predict House of Commons approval tonight of Britain's entry into the Common Market by less than 50 votes. Such a small margin would mean months of trouble ahead for the necessary enabling legislation, and possibly defeat of some of it.

The House of Lords was to vote first, followed by the vote in Commons, where six days of debate have underlined the splits in both the ruling Conservative party and the opposition Laborites.

Prime Minister Edward Heath was confident of winning majority approval in Commons for the principle and terms of British entry despite the defection of 30 or so of his party members. He counted on the defection of even more Laborites defying their party's judgment that the government has accepted terms of membership which represent a bad margin for Britain.

Party managers resorted to furious political arm-twisting trying to get recalcitrant members to toe the party line.

"This place is like a torture chamber," one veteran commented.

Heath had hoped for a victory margin of 100 votes in the 630-member House of Commons, and anything less than 50 could turn out to be too frail for his comfort at home or his credibility abroad.

In the year ahead, if the initial vote is favorable, a stack of enabling laws must be passed, and Heath cannot be sure of continuing support from the rebel Laborites.

Under the Parliamentary system, a government is expected to quit if it loses an important Commons vote, and a defeat on one of the major Common Market votes in the next year could bring Heath down.

The leaders of both Conservative and Labor parties are committed to lead Britain into the Common Market, believing that this is the only way the nation can play a decisive role in Europe again. But Harold Wilson, leader of the Labor party, contends that the terms the Conservatives have negotiated are not good enough.

The Common Market bands together France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg in a customs union in which the main barriers to the free flow of internal trade have been dismantled.

Three successive British governments have tried to join. Twice President Charles de Gaulle vetoed them, suspecting the British wanted to come in as agents of the Americans. When he was succeeded by President Georges Pompidou, the French veto disappeared. Last spring Heath came to an understanding with him that at last opened he gates.

Red China Still Mum On U.N. Seat

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China thanked its supporters today for helping it win admission to the United Nations but gave no indication when it would end its first delegation to New York.

An editorial in the Peking People's Daily, the Communist party's official newspaper, said the U.N. vote reflected an international trend for friendship with China and "the resistance and opposition of ever more countries to the truculent acts of U.S. imperialism in imposing its will on others."

"It is getting more difficult for one or two superpowers to manipulate and monopolize the United Nations," it added without referring to the Soviet Union by name.

Meanwhile, the Japanese government, under fire for cosponsoring Washington's unsuccessful two-Chinas resolutions in the United Nations, defeated a second no-confidence motion in Parliament today against Foreign Minister Takeo Fukuda.

Both motions were submitted by opposition parties which claimed the defeat of the U.S. resolution caused Japan to lose face and harmed efforts to improve relations with the mainland government.

The second no-confidence motion was voted down 132 to 106 in the Diet's upper house. A similar motion was defeated in the lower house Wednesday 274-169.

Chairman James Huston said public officials, community organizations, residents and businessmen in the area have been invited to testify at the hearing in the Tri-County Community College.

State Tax Vote Expected Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An afternoon vote on a personal income tax to finance an $8.1 billion budget over the biennium was expected in the Ohio Senate today.

The outcome was anybody's guess.

Spokesmen for the Gilligan administration said they have 11 of the 13 Democrats lined up for the bill, but Senate Minority Leader Anthony O. Calabrese, D-22 Cleveland, said he could count only nine.

Seventeen votes are needed to pass a bill in the Senate. If the tax bill should be approved, there it must still be approved by the House.

The state has been without a permanent budget since June 30. The previous one was for $6.2 billion. Since July 1 the state has operated under six interim budgets.

Senate Majority Leader Theodore M. Gray, R-3 Piqua, said a vote was possible in the afternoon "if the mechanics can be worked out."

As Gray talked he pointed to two separate stacks of papers on top of the long conference desk in the Majority Leader's office.

"Just look at what they (the conference committee) have got to put together," he said, running his fingers through 200 pages of technical and substantive amendments to the Senate-passed sales tax bill of late September.

"Each line in the bill has got to read... look at these... line deletions... changes. They've got to put it together so at least we can get photocopy computer print-outs to show the party caucuses," added Gray.

What the amendments and changes do is to rework the Senate's measure into an income tax package that raises some $920 million in new revenues over the two years of the biennium and provides for about $8.1 billion in spending by the state over the same period.

Gray's very tentative timetable for getting the tax-budget bill to the Senate floor for a vote:

—By mid-morning, a conference committee vote on the newly-assembled measure.

—A series of party caucuses through the afternoon to explain the bill's provisions to the rank-and-file.

—By late afternoon, possibly a vote.

When asked whether he thought all the pieces could fall together in one day, the Piqua Republican replied, "I hope so."

The legislature has been laboring over the knotty problems of taxing and spending for the 1971-73 biennium ever since March 14 when Gov. John J. Gilligan introduced his legislative package calling for a $9.1 billion budget and $1.6 billion in new revenues.

The joint House-Senate Conference Committee has been working since Sept. 25 to resolve fundamental differences between the watered-down Gilligan plan passed by the House and the radically dissimilar Senate option — a sales tax hike with "low end" spending levels.

Murphy Store Manager Dies

James Hester, manager of the local G. C. Murphy Co., died in Berger Hospital after collapsing while at work in the store at 11 a.m. today.

Hester assumed the manager's position of Murphy's this spring, replacing George Griebel who was transferred.

Hester, who resided at 120 Pinckney St., is survived by his wife, six daughters and two sons.

Gun Battle Answers Irish Offer

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — A Roman Catholic joined Northern Ireland's Cabinet for the first time Wednesday night with an appeal for peace. A few hours later, a police officer and a British soldier were killed and the army claimed at least six guerrillas shot in a gun battle.

Prime Minister Brian Faulkner appointed Dr. Gerard Newe, 64-year-old specialist in social work, as a minister of state in an attempt to reach out to the province's Catholic minority. "Crude window dressing," said a Catholic member of the provincial parliament.

Meantime, the toll of known deaths in the communal warfare rose to 139 in the past two years, including 31 British soldiers this year.

After an eight-hour, house-to-house gun fight in West Belfast during the night, military headquarters reported troops hit at least six guerrilla snipers. But the dead or wounded were dragged away into the darkness by their comrades, the army said.

Early today raiders ambushed a police car driving along the northern shore of Lough Neagh a few miles from Belfast.

A burst of automatic weapon fire rattled the car, police said, killing a 33-year-old sergeant. A constable with him was gravely wounded.

Shortly afterward a mine exploded under an army scout car near the border with the Irish Republic. A 22-year-old corporal died of his wounds.

Nelsonville Meeting Set By Commission

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John Gilligan's Housing and Community Development Advisory Commission will hold a public hearing in Nelsonville Friday to study housing problems in the 28-county Appalachia region.

Chairman James Huston said public officials, community organizations, residents and businessmen in the area have been invited to testify at the hearing in the Tri-County Community College.

Nixon Journey To Red China Set For 1972

Indications Point To January Trip By President

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon will make his historic trip to mainland China sometime after the first of January with the exact date to be announced next month.

Setting the trip in 1972 does not mean delay in Nixon's schedule, according to Henry A. Kissinger, the President's national security adviser.

He told newsmen Wednesday "We are exactly on the schedule we set ourselves. It has not been delayed." He pointed out Nixon had said from the start the only limit on timing was May 1972.

Kissinger, who returned Tuesday from a six-day visit to Peking laying the ground work for Nixon, said "We have the time narrowed down to a certain number of weeks. We will formalize it and announce it soon."

Kissinger said his advance work accomplished what he set out to do, "to make concrete arrangements for the President's visit." But, he added, another preparatory team will be sent before Nixon leaves.

Kissinger said he would not go with that advance party because the remaining work is technical and he would be of no real help.

This last advance team will be implementing agreements Kissinger reached in principle with Chinese Prime Minister Chou en La, the presidential adviser said.

Reds Are Told Vietnamization Working Out

PARIS (AP) — The United States told the Communist delegates to the Vietnam peace talks today that President Nixon's Vietnamization policy "is and will remain an effective barrier against your attempts to take over South Vietnam by force."

U.S. Ambassador William J. Porter said Vietnamization is allowing the United States to reduce its involvement without compromising the security of Vietnam.

"In other words," he continued, "You are getting nothing in Paris because you do not negotiate and you are achieving nothing in South Vietnam because of Vietnamization."

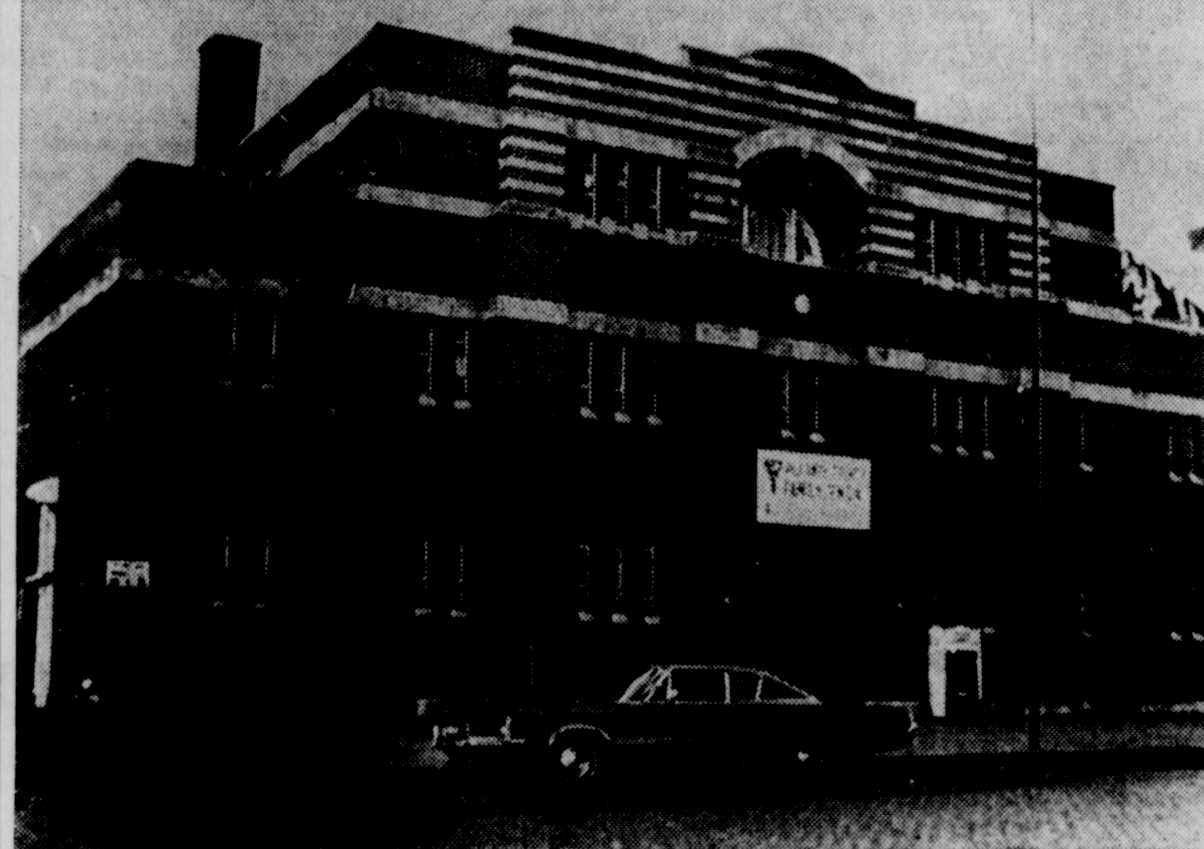

Neither of the chief Communist negotiators, Xuan Thuy of North Vietnam, and Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh of the Viet Cong, were present. They have been absent for several weeks and their places have been taken by low-ranking delegates.

States for his unopposed reelection. "Intelligence indicates possible increased enemy activity during the period, such as terror, sapper and rocket and mortar attacks," said a spokesman for the U.S. Command, Maj. Richard Gardner.

He said the alert would begin at 5 p.m. Saigon time Friday and would remain in effect at least through 5 p.m. Monday.

Under the alert, called "gray condition," U.S. troops can enter cities or towns only on essential official business, and vehicle movement outside U.S. installations is limited to essential travel.

Similar alerts were declared during the National Assembly election last Aug. 29 and the presidential election Oct. 3.

UP FOR GRABS — If Gov. John Gilligan signs a house and senate passed amendment currently on his desk, the YMCA building will belong to the city of Circleville. The Y is currently leasing the old National Guard Armory from the state.

National Guard-YMCA Building Could Be City's

Following state senate vote Wednesday, Ohio Gov. John Gilligan is expected to sign a bill that would amend current Ohio legislation and give the Circleville National Guard Armory to the city.

The original bill authorized the State Adjutant General of the Ohio National Guard to auction three vacant Armories, including the local building, to the highest bidder.

That law, if left to stand, would have thrown the Circleville Chapter of the YMCA out of a home. The local Y is currently leasing the building from the state for a $1 a year.

Harold Hewitt, director of the Circleville YMCA, sees the move as a "real good thing" for the YMCA and the local chapter.

"It means, that if the city of Circleville will continue to lease the building to us, we can continue service to the community," he said.

Senator Harry Armstrong was responsible for senate passage of the amendment and Representative Myrl Shoemaker endorsed proceedings in the House.

Crashes Kill 5 Persons

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A three-fatality crash near Wilmington and two deaths in Summit and Geauga County crashes have boosted the state's weekday traffic death toll.

The dead: WILMINGTON — Mrs. Thomas Rudisill, 49, of New Vienna, a nurse going to work at Clinton County Memorial Hospital; Amos Trivett, 56, of Dayton, and a still unidentified woman about 25 years old, died Wednesday in a two car collision on Ohio 73 about five miles north of Wilmington.

CHARDON — Mike M. Gruich, 58, of Mayfield Heights, when his car crashed Wednesday into a tractor-trailer truck turning around on U.S. 422 in Troy Township south of Burton.

AKRON — David Silver, 23, of Chambersburg, Pa., a student at Akron University, in a two-car crash Wednesday near the school.

Ohio Soldier Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army Capt. Anthony P. Quint, son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Quint Sr. of Columbus, Ohio, has died in Southeast Asia of a cause other than battle wounds, the Defense Department reported Wednesday.

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — The Fraternal Order of Police says city officials attempted to play down events of the World Series' victory celebration here Oct. 17 "in order to cover up the deficiencies in the low number of police provided."

Sgt. Francis W. Quinlan, president of the city's FOP chapter, said an association investigation of the celebration, which followed Pittsburgh's victory over Baltimore, has determined:

—That there were numerous crimes against persons and property.

—That damage would approach $250,000.

Quinlan said he disagreed somewhat with national media accounts of the celebration in (Continued on Page 2)

Trucker Charged In Vehicular Death

GREENVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Darke County authorities have filed a charge of vehicular homicide against William Ray, Bedford, Inc., whose tractor-trailer rig collided Tuesday with a car driven by Mark Davis, 18, of North Star.

Davis was killed in the crash. Ray was hurt seriously and is in Lima Memorial Hospital.

4 Missouri Hostages Freed At Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Four Missouri persons, held hostages following a bank robbery in St. Louis Oct. 21, were released unharmed today near a bus station here.

FBI Agents were questioning the hostages. The FBI has an all points alert out for James Leroy Cochran, 36, described as heavily armed and wounded.

The release apparently brings to 21 the number of captives a wounded robber has taken since the bank robbery.

The 17th hostage, John L. Dorrell III, was freed and returned to his family at St. Louis Tuesday after a three-day ordeal that took him to New Mexico and back.

Charges have been filed against Cochran and Paul Louis Lockhart. Lockhart was caught outside a high school in St. Louis following the robbery of Cass Federal Savings and Loan Association and a shootout with police.

All of the approximately $10,000 the men took has been recovered, St. Louis police said.

The hostages released in Columbus were adults and from the Hillsboro, Mo. area. They were not identified, but FBI agent Paul Fields said they were two men and two women.

He said Cochran is armed with a .38-caliber revolver, a .22-caliber pistol, and a 30-30 rifle.

Fields said Cochran is wounded, with a bullet in his upper left arm, and right knee, and is described as extremely dangerous.

Cochran is described as wearing a brown plaid shirt, brown pants and white tennis shoes.

He is driving a 1971 Plymouth, with blue body and white top, with bumper stickers from the Ft. Leonard Wood (Mo.) military camp.

Claim Blount Will Run For Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Winton M. "Red" Blount, head of the U.S. Postal Service, will resign Friday to campaign for the U.S. Senate in Alabama, sources report.

Spokesmen for the 50-year-old Blount neither confirm or deny the report which has been circulating in Washington for months.

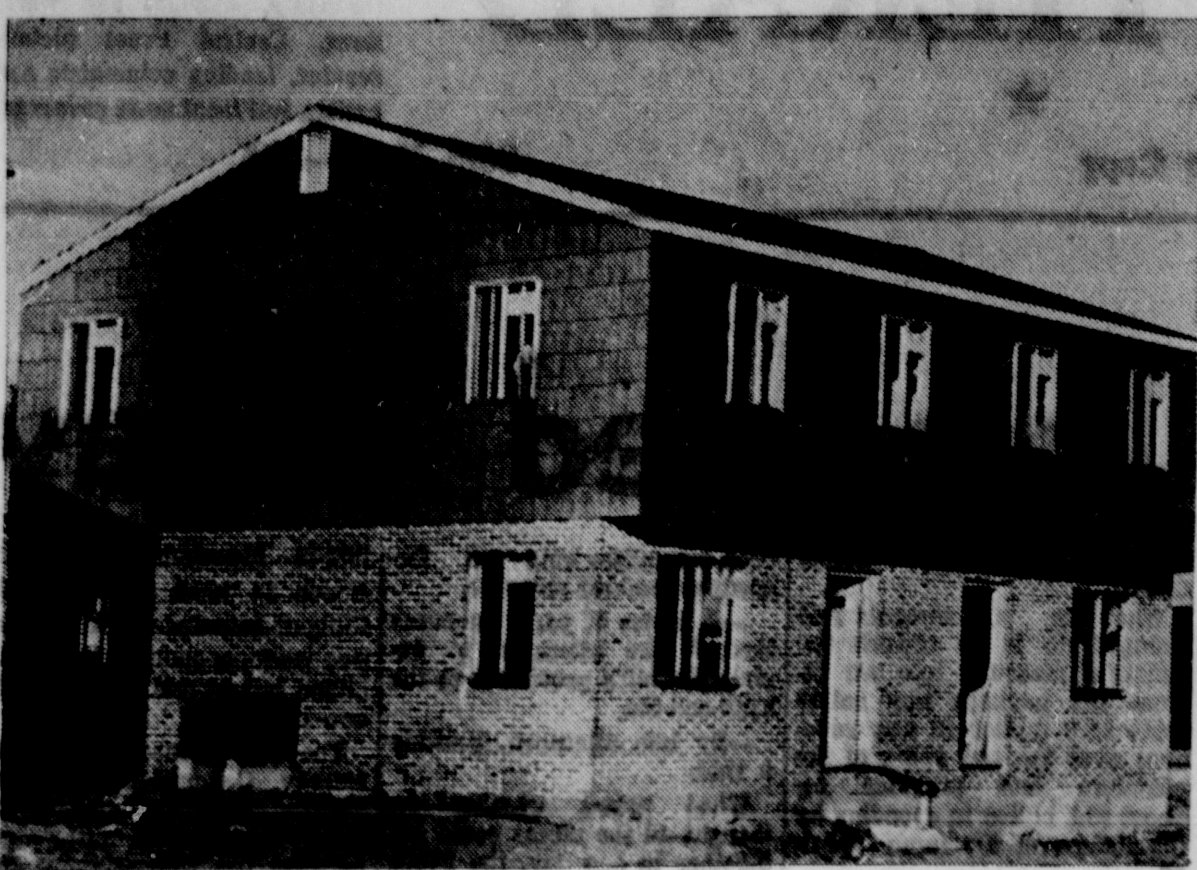

However, sources close to Blount said the postal chief hoped to announce his resignation at the White House with President Nixon at his side. Nixon appointed Blount postmaster general in January, 1969.

The Washington political consulting firm of Allison, Treleven and Rietz Inc. has been retained to help the "Draft Blount" Committee run the postal chief's campaign, sources added.

Blount's most likely opponent would be Democratic incumbent John Sparkman. But several younger Alabama Democrats have indicated they might challenge the 72-year-old Sparkman.

Pickaway SWCD To Hold Annual Meet Wednesday

The Pickaway Soil and Water Conservation District will be talking about resource use projection at its annual meeting and election 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, at Westfall High School, and will have an Ohio natural resources expert to keynote the discussion.

Robert W. Teater, associate dean of the Ohio State University's College of Agriculture and Home Economics and director of that college's School of Natural Resources, will be the guest speaker.

He served as assistant director of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources from 1963 until assuming his current position in 1969. Dr. Teater was associated with the department from 1961-63 as executive assistant to Ohio's Director of Natural Resources.

DR. Teater, who headed the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center's Tobacco research program from 1967-69 while also serving as a member of Ohio State's Department of Agronomy faculty, is a native of Kentucky.

He received his PhD and Master's degrees in agronomy from Ohio State and his bachelor's in agriculture from the University of Kentucky.

The Pickaway Soil and Water Conservation District's featured speaker is a member of the Ohio Environmental Council Board of Directors, the Soil Conservation Society of America, the American Society of Agronomy and other professional as well as civic organizations.

He is a lieutenant colonel in the Ohio National Guard, executive officer of the 73rd Infantry brigade headquartered in Columbus.

Health Care Insurance Pondered

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spokesmen for the insurance industry argued Wednesday for a national health care plan based on private insurance coverage with tax incentives.

Unlike President Nixon's plan, also based on private insurance, the system would rely on tax provisions rather than mandatory requirements for employers to offer coverage to their employees. The federal government would join the states in financing coverage for the poor.

"Our experience has convinced us that what America needs is not some untried monolithic, bureaucratic system, but a reoriented, better coordinated, and more soundly-financed system built on present strengths, encouraging experimentation and flexibility and providing multiple choice to the consumer," said J. Henry Smith, president of the Equitable Life Assurance Society.

His testimony was prepared for the House Ways and Means Committee and offered on behalf of the Health Insurance Assn. of America, American Life Convention, Life Insurance Association of America and Life Insurance conference.

Paul D. Hill, on behalf of the International Assn. of Health Underwriters, also supported the legislation, saying "we believe that it is by far the best of all the solutions that have been proposed to help solve the problem of financing health care on a national basis, and making that care available to everyone, regardless of ability to pay."

Red Ball Decals Help Firemen Locate Children

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — "Red Ball" decals are to be distributed in Cleveland by a supermarket chain to help firemen find children who may be trapped in rooms. Fire Chief William Barry said Tuesday.

Barry, speaking at the Cleveland Athletic Club, said 250,000 decals will be distributed for placement on windows of rooms where children play and sleep.

He said home fires where children are alone in the house are frequent and youngsters often seek safety by hiding under a bed or in a closet.

Barry said eight children died and 18 others were injured in home fires in Cleveland in the first six months this year.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Ralston (Susan E. Ortman) are announcing the birth of their first child, a daughter, Amy Sue, September 24 in Chillicothe Hospital. She weighed 6 pound 14 ounces. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John R. Ralston and Mr. Russell Ortman.

Mr. and Mrs. William Moss Sr., spent the weekend at the home of their son and daughter-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Moss and family in Jefferson, Maryland. They were accompanied by their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Woods and sons, Monte and Dougie.

At the meeting of the Zane Trace Parent-Teacher Organization last Tuesday night, Superintendent Everett Park invited all parents to visit the schools during National Education week, October 26 through 29. President Russell Ortman announced that James Collins' fourth grade was the winning class in the recent membership drive and that individual winners were Dennis Greenwalt and Andrea Hilton. He introduced David Gunlock who spoke in behalf of the proposed Ross-Pickaway Vocational School and Nelson Stevens who is serving as president of the Board of Education. A question and answer period followed.

Candidates for the two places open on the Board of Education were introduced and each spoke briefly. The High School band under the direction of Don Petrow played several selections at the close of the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. William Streber and her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Arledge of Circleville were in Nashville, Tennessee last weekend where they attended the Grand Old Opry and saw some of the festivities connected with the birthday celebration of the Opry and famous landmarks in the area including, The Hermitage, Belle Meade and a replica of the Parthenon.

Approximately one hundred and twenty five members of the Kingston Pentecostal Church joined in the last outing of the season, a wiener roast, last Monday night in the Community Park.

Mrs. Joe Huhn won several prizes at the Pumpkin Show last week on her entries. A knit baby set won a first prize, a pair of ceramic Siamese cats, a second prize, a crocheted Barbie Doll outfit and a Humpty-Dumpty bean bag, third place prizes and a quilt belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. Clarence Jones, placed first.

Mrs. Lawrence Kerns presided in the absence of the president Mrs. Elizabeth Bennett when the Ne Plus Ultra Sunday School Class met last Tuesday night at the Methodist Church. Following the opening song, "Higher Ground", Mrs. Helen Kneese gave the devotionals and prayer. There was a short business meeting. The cheer committee had on its list this week, Mrs. Fannie Butler, Mrs. Mary Stockham and Mrs. Bennett. The meeting was closed with the hymn, "Jesus Calls Us" and the Creed. Mrs. Evelyn Stephenson was the pianist. Fourteen members and two guests, Mrs. Ella Welshiener and Mrs. Leona Gibson were present. Refresh-

U.S. Economic Leadership Gone?

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Dr. Carl H. Madden, chief economist for the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, said Wednesday the new Nixon economic policy symbolizes the "end of U.S. supremacy in world economics."

Madden was among speakers in Aircade '71, a series of meetings across the country between the national COC leaders and businessmen. He said the United States had maintained its position of world economic preeminence since World War II.

About 300 businessmen from Indiana, Ohio, Illinois and Kentucky attended the Indianapolis meeting.

Speedy Mail Flow Claimed By Blount

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postmaster General Winton M. Blount said Wednesday an average of 93 per cent of locally addressed first class mail across the country is being delivered in one day.

Under the expedited local delivery program, the postal service is seeking a 100 per cent average next-day delivery for first class zip coded letters deposited by 5 p.m. within major cities and surrounding towns.

Energy And Basics

Let's get back to the basics, is a familiar sentiment heard when drawn-out arguments seem to be getting out of hand. It is an idea whose time has come as far as the growing debate over power, fuels and air pollution are concerned.

Although it is a subject which does not demand headlines like many other problems of the day, energy rapidly is becoming one of the major problems in many areas of the world. While much of the power problem relates to the dwindling supply of some conventional fuels, that still is only part of the story.

Getting back to the basics, the elements of the problem are several. Dwindling reserves of fuel deposits in some parts of the world, an unexpected surge in demand for energy, poor distribution of some fuel reserves, and the recently-developed but now potent fear of air pollution caused by generating plants — these are the basics.

Bernard I. Spinrad, senior physicist at the Argonne National Laboratory and former director of the Division of Nuclear Power and Reactors in the International Atomic Energy Agency, believes the fuel problem largely is an artificial one.

Writing in the Bulletin of Atomic Scientists, Dr. Spinrad suggests a near hysterical concern over air pollution has caused restrictions more stringent than necessary to be placed on the types of fuel which can be burned.

"To the extent that a fuel shortage exists, it is . . . easily rectified," he wrote. "All that is needed is to put our best science, which now includes some understanding of urban air movement, back into our ordinances. The result would be more and cheaper fuel for our power plants."

Rethinking is one of the basics which can help solve problems.

Public Approval

It may seem like a letdown to some persons not to be able to look forward to bizarre changes yearly in Detroit's product. But if the auto manufacturers resume their former custom of pouring hundreds of millions of dollars into redesigning bodies and power components of passenger automobiles, it will be a surprise.

The 1972 models, with minor changes and a minimum loss of time for production changeover, are meeting better customer acceptance than Detroit had expected. Perhaps this is what the public wanted, instead of radical innovations.

There has always been great public interest in what the manufacturers were planning to unveil next, but the cost was tremendous — hundreds of millions of dollars annually — and perhaps the most curious were lookers instead of buyers.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things we could all do without:

Restaurants that try to make tea with lukewarm water. Beaches with plenty of bugs to bite you but no shells for the kids to pick up.

Park statues of forgotten civic notables.

Toast that has one lump of grease in the middle instead of being buttered all over.

Lightning storms that strike when you have only two more holes to go and are ahead by three strokes.

Wasting three dimes on the phone in a pay booth before discovering it's out of order.

Having to pay more for a sandwich now than you used to pay for a five-course lunch.

Girls who take pottery lessons and insist on giving you their first masterpiece—a hunk of clay too big for an ashtray and too small to use as an umbrella stand.

Cashiers who hold back a bill for a moment in counting out change, hoping you'll hurry off without getting the full amount due you.

Hats with brims so small you can't hold them on your head during a heavy wind.

Middle-aged women who retain the mannerisms which someone in their long ago childhood told them were cute.

Girls with boots so big they look like Canadian trappers.

Career club women who are so busy with their duties that their husbands have to do most of the housework.

Stadium-bought hot dogs so long and skinny they hang out of the bun at both ends like an overfed dachshund.

People so stingy or fearful they bolt the door and turn off the living room lights on Halloween so they won't have to face the trick-or-treat challenges of outlandishly costumed children.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My doctor puffs cigarette smoke in my face while urging me to stop smoking. If it's bad for me, why isn't it bad for him?

Dear Mr. A.: Smoking is probably bad for both of you. You, however, must not base your decision to give up the habit on your doctor's inability to do so.

I agree with you that puffing cigarette smoke in your face is hardly the acceptable method to induce you to kick the habit. Doctors themselves know the risks of tobacco and must seek their own psychoneurotic reasons for persisting in a habit detrimental to health.

A very astute observation was recently made by distinguished young psychiatrist, Dr. John S. Tamerin, of the Mount Sinai School of Medicine in New York City.

He found that only 39 per cent of psychiatrists were able to stop smoking, as compared to the 56 per cent success in other physicians.

His explanation is that psychiatrists have fewer opportunities for physical activity by which other physicians modify their impulses and attentions.

Dr. Tamerin believes, too, that cigarette smoking is fifty million American is "a widespread example of neurotic risk-taking."

You and your doctor must individually weigh the risks of tobacco and come to your own conclusion as you balance health against potential hazard.

How early should a speech defect be treated in a young child?

My husband insists that 3-year-old is too young to be burdened by treatment.

Mrs. J. E. Utah Dear Mrs. E.: There is a temptation to believe that speech defects will spontaneously disappear with time. This leads to disappointment for the parents, and deeply ingrained patterns of speech for the child.

First, of course, physical reasons for a speech defect must be ruled out and removed, if present. A slight band of adhesion may tie the tongue down. Large adenoids may give nasality to speech. Dental problems may interfere with good speech.

Speech therapy, a highly developed science, has made enormous progress in the past 25 years. Hospitals and universities have excellent speech centers, and encourage children to be brought to them at the very earliest age.

The results are often spectacular and spare children embarrassment in their social and school environment.

The methods now being used are brilliantly conceived and are played out as games that young children actually enjoy.

Instructions from speech therapists are carried out in the home and increase the benefits and successful results.

Urge Ratification Of Okinawa Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers Wednesday called for the Senate to ratify quickly the treaty returning Okinawa to Japan in 1972, saying such action will protect and promote U. S. security interests in the Far East.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee which opened hearings on the treaty, said it was being considered against a backdrop of strained relations between the United States and Japan. He also cited the seating of the People's Republic of China in the U.N. General Assembly and the expulsion of Nationalist China as something that must be considered.

Fulbright said these developments would have "substantial effects" on U.S. security interests in the Pacific.

ONA Backs Changes

The Ohio Newspaper Association has issued a statement to explain and support the only constitutional amendment to be on the Nov. 2 general election ballot. The amendment would allow changes in the Ohio Constitution to be initiated more easily by the general public and notice of proposed changes to be given the public in a less costly way than at present.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, Ohio's chief election official, suggested the changes to the Ohio General Assembly, which authorized placing them on the Nov. 2 ballot by unanimous vote.

One change would delete the present requirement of including a person's ward and precinct identity along with name and address in signing a petition seeking a constitutional change. Election officials point out the ward and precinct are not needed to voters, and many signers are invalidated for not knowing their ward and precinct numbers, which change from time to time.

The other change would provide for public notice by newspaper publication (five times) instead of the present mailing of a single notice to the homes of Ohio voter families. Brown has estimated from past initiated amendment efforts that the cost of a state wide mailing could run as high as $250,000 without including future postal increases. Notice by newspaper publication would cost only about $25,000 for a notice once a week for the five weeks preceding a general election, as required by law.

The Ohio Newspaper Association statement follows: "Ohio voters will be asked on Nov. 2 to approve a cost-saving amendment to the Ohio Constitution to more economically notify the voting public about future constitutional changes sought by public petition and to make easier the signing of such petitions."

"Constitutional amendments initiated by the Ohio General Assembly must be published in newspapers, and municipal charter amendments may be so published as the most economical way of giving notice to the public. The amendment on the Nov. 2 ballot would allow similar notice to be given on all constitutional amendments initiated by the general public."

"The notice-by-mail method authorized in the past has grown more costly as printing, addressing and postage costs have risen and as the number of voters to be reached has grown. The cost of notice-by-newspaper publication has not gone up on the same basis, since the state legislature sets the maximum rate for many newspapers while the others charge at the same rate and charged other advertisers. As more readers are reached by newspapers, the cost-per-reader actually decreases.

"Public notice in newspapers was established many years ago to help keep people in a free and open society well-informed about their government and its actions. Use of newspaper notice has expanded over the years to where it has become an important, economical and indispensable part of our system of democracy."

"Notice-by-newspaper has become important under law in legalizing many actions and expenditures of government which would be illegal without notice to the taxpaying public. It is also a key public record and an accepted way of having public officials report to taxpayers on their performance and expenditures while in office.

"The Ohio Newspaper Association agrees with Secretary of State Ted W. Brown and state legislators who authorized putting the amendment on the Nov. 2 ballot. It is an economy measure and in line with accepted past practice of notifying the public of ballot issues. The Ohio Newspaper Association also fully endorses deletion of the present requirement of listing wards and precincts when signing public petitions to seek constitutional changes."

"Keeping people informed and making easier their right to petition for changes are in the best interest of a free society and the freedoms we all enjoy in Ohio and the United States."

Only Wild Goats Live On Island

WATTS ISLAND, Va. (AP) — Wild goats are the only living remnants of a colonial settlement on this Chesapeake Bay island, discovered 363 years ago by Capt. John Smith.

An overgrown cemetery and a few brick fireplaces and chimneys still stand, although the homes once occupied by generations of watermen have since melted into the wilderness.

Only the wild goats live on, the direct descendants of domestic farm goats of the first settlers.

Smith discovered this tiny island at the mouth of the Chesapeake Bay in 1608, just a year before injuries in a gunpowder explosion forced his return to England.

The first settlers, including John Watts, arrived in 1657. They were attracted to the 700-acre island because nearby waters had a wealth of seafood and because its locale made it ideal for trading and shipping.

The settlement flourished and soon a church, a store and a school were built among the pine trees.

With the outbreak of the War of 1812, however, the island's central location also made it desirable to the British and they took it over for a military encampment.

In their wake came Tory sympathizers called "Picaroons," who according to local legend, followed the lobster-backs, looting, thieving and settling old scores with the watermen.

When America was victorious and the British left, numerous "Picaroons" were rounded up and hanged.

One notorious rogue, "Tory Joe," was driven back into the island marshes where, naked and starving, he was heard howling in the wilderness until his death.

Few watermen ever returned to their ravaged island after the war. The island became deserted as the few remaining families died off.

The last resident of the island was a Princeton law student, Charles Hardenberg, who moved into the jumbled woods with his books to live and study as a recluse.

"The Hermit of Watts Island," as he was called, eventually married an old sweetheart in 1931 and she soon persuaded him to return to civilization.

Over the centuries, the swirling tides of Chesapeake Bay have eaten away much of the island.

The lone cemetery is on the verge of falling into the bay — one side of the crude iron fence surrounding the overgrown tombstones now dangles over the water.

The island, now dwindled to about 50 acres, has become a haven for Blue Herons, marsh birds and hawks.

And the ubiquitous goats.

The Business World

By CHARLES C. CAIN (For John Cuniff)

DETROIT (AP)—The flood-tide of import car sales has eased a bit but whether it is temporary or permanent is anybody's guess.

Some say the dropoff is due to the dock strikes, which cut deeply into the supply of cars from Europe and Japan.

Others say it is because of the additional 6.5 per cent tax which was tacked onto the price of new cars imported after President Nixon's Aug. 15 economic program. They previously had been assessed 3.5 per cent.

Still others say the slackening in demand for autos built overseas came after the Nixon wage-price freeze which meant the new 1972 domestic cars were selling at 1971 prices—at least until mid-November when a price increase is anticipated.

At first glance, the 128,190 sales which the import cars chalked up in the U.S. market in September were impressive. They were the highest total of any September in import car history.

A closer look, however, showed that the import sales represented only about 15 per cent of the September new car market, down considerably from the 21 per cent of the previous month.

The plain fact is that domestic car sales are booming in the United States with many of Detroit's auto executives expressing confidence that October will become the first month in history in which over a million autos—domestic and imports—were sold. By contrast, September sales totaled 883,423.

The additional 6.5 per cent tagged onto the prices of the import cars, combined with the freeze on prices of U.S.-built cars, meant simply that what used to be a fairly large price gap between the imports and U.S. cars was narrowed considerably.

One view of the immediate future for import cars in the lush American market came from Pehr Gyllenhammar, president of A.B. Volvo Co., Sweden's biggest auto manufacturer.

"I personally doubt the President's package will have the desired effect of making domestically produced cars irresistible from the standpoint of price alone . . . we anticipate losing only a small percentage of our business to the import surcharge," he said.

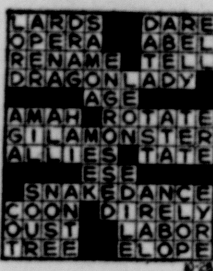

Another view came from Yutaka Katayama, president of Nissan Motors USA, who told newsmen Tuesday he expected the Japanese auto firm's sales in the United States will increase 70 per cent over 1970—despite the new Nixon economic measures.

The importers were unanimous on their feeling that—with the end of the dock strike—they will be in better position to resume their battle with Detroit's autos for the U.S. market.

Aging Couple Faces Loss Of Bid To Adopt Child

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A Cuyahoga County Probate Court judge is scheduled to rule sometime after Nov. 17 on whether an aging couple can adopt a 3-year-old girl they have reared since she was two weeks old.

But if attorney Albert E. Fowerbaugh is correct, the judge can rule only one way. He contends Judge Francis Talty must dismiss the adoption petition of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Haun because the Children's Service Agency refuses to approve the adoption.

Fowerbaugh, attorney for the agency, said Ohio law requires consent of an agency that has custody of a child before the child may be adopted.

Haun, who is 68, and his wife, who is 55, apparently meet all the prime qualifications for adoptive parents except for age, according to Children's Service executive director George M. DelMoro. He said the couple, which has cared for 33 other foster children for the agency over the last 19 years, meets qualifications of maturity, stability, responsibility, love of children and financial ability.

The Hauns, of Olmsted Township, want to adopt Julie Sheila, who will be 3 next month, and who came to them when she was 15 days old.

Julie's mother placed her with the agency shortly after birth and she surrendered custody to the agency in April, 1970, so Julie may be adopted.

Julie was born prematurely and doctors suspected she had suffered brain damage at birth and described her as a "borderline defective." Her latest tests showed an IQ of 112 and a recovery which doctors credit largely to the Hauns' care.

When doctors certified Julie's development as normal last April, the Hauns were told the agency would seek adoptive parents. The Hauns then asked to adopt Julie and were turned down.

Mary E. Barden supervisor of the agency's adoption service, testified the agency's age limit was 35 for adoptive mothers and 40 for adoptive fathers. She testified she could not recommend the Hauns as adoptive parents under any circumstance.

Fowerbaugh argues that Julie's best interests would be served through adoption by younger parents.

October Payments Made To Schools

October foundation payments from the state of Ohio to Pickaway County and Circleville City Schools totaled $71,023.98.

This figure indicates the three per cent cut ordered by Governor John Gilligan. Local school districts also took the cut in state subsidy payments in September.

An allotment of $37,314.77 was paid to Circleville Schools for the month of October. Logan Elm received $7,466.57 in subsidy payments, Teays Valley $16,966.90 and Westfall $9,275.74.

Pickaway County Board of Education received $3,748.34 in direct payment from the state.

Veteran's Day History Told To Kiwanis

Past State of Ohio Commander of the American Legion, Roger Smith, and Ashville Commander of the American Legion, Mel Archer, presented a history of Veteran's Day and reported on the Legion work at the Tuesday evening meeting of the Ashville Kiwanis Club.

Smith presented a talk on Veteran's Day, tracing its history from its beginning in 1918. The past state commander then went on to explain how the American Legion has worked in its many programs to help veterans with their many needs. Public and Business Affairs Committee chairman Warren Bastian arranged the Kiwanis program.

Frank "Bill" Welsh, an employee of the Ashville post office, was inducted as a new member. Bill is married to the former Carol Jackson and has two daughters.

During a Board of Directors meeting which followed the regular assembly, Ashville Kiwanis president Rodger Southward appointed Charles Morrison, Russell Toole and Bill Fortner to work with him in a committee for raising funds for the club.

Projects currently underway were noted in a progress report. Copy for the annual Charity Newsie is being collected and fruitcake sales underway. A drive is also underway for a scrap-paper pickup. A call to Bill Lockard, Southward or any Kiwanian will bring a member to pick up any unwanted newspapers or magazines.

According to Interclub chairman Don Collins, within a week every member of the Ashville club will have been on a visit to another club in the district. At their Tuesday meeting, Ashville welcomed Circleville Kiwanians Virgil Cress and Dave Winks.

Next Tuesday, members will leave from the Ashville coffee shop by 6:15 p.m. for the Training Institute of Central Ohio.

Frank Welsh, in charge of international relations, reported that a contribution had been sent to the American - Korean Foundation for the Kiwanis Village in South Korea. Welsh asked all members to save Christmas cards and stamp so they can be collected and sent to missionaries.

22 Cubans Still Refuse To Go Home

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — The State Department was still trying today to find a way to get 22 Cubans to go back home.

Nineteen of the Cubans are sugar cane technicians who flew here Tuesday in hopes of attending the 14th Congress of the International Society of Sugar Cane Technologists. The other three are crew members of the Russian - built twin - engined turboprop used for the flight from Cuba.

The State Department said Cuban officials were advised Sept. 24 that no visas would be granted for the group.

The State Department was trying to solve the problem through the Swiss and Czechoslovakian embassies, which represent Cuban interests in the United States. The United States has no direct diplomatic relations with Cuba.

A State Department spokesman said no legal hearing was anticipated because the Cubans "are not in the country." He explained that the 22 have not been admitted officially through customs.

They were being kept in a hotel.

The Cubans were allowed to move freely on the balconies adjoining their motel rooms but were allowed no telephone calls or visitors. Much of the time was spent in visiting and photographing each other and watching television.

Gilligan Backs Student Vote Rule

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A heated floor fight is expected today between House Democrats and Republicans over GOP-authored legislation that would bring Ohio's election laws in line with federal requirements and recent court decisions.

One of those recent court decisions declared students eligible to vote in the college towns because voter eligibility standards applied more strictly to students than non-students were illegal.

Heading the list of Democratic objections to the measure is language enabling local elections boards to decide whether a student qualifies to vote in his college community or must vote an absentee ballot.

Although each board may apply the eligibility standards—intent to reside in the community, employment, and property ownership—to all would-be voters, House sources concede the provision will have the effect of denying students the right to vote in the town in which they go to school.

Repeated efforts by Democrats to amend the language out of the bill in committee failed.

In a letter to Sec. of State Ted Brown, a Republican, Gov. John Gilligan warned Wednesday that failure of a similar floor amendment would force him to "weigh carefully the possibility of veto."

Gilligan labeled the language a "blatant effort to bypass the court's intent."

"Since students are considered to be residents of their college communities by the U.S. census, upon which apportionment of the Legislature and congressional districts is based, I feel it is proper that students not be denied the right to register and vote where they attend school," the governor said.

The bill does simplify procedures for student registration by allowing them to apply at the election board in their college towns for an absentee ballot from their "home" district.

Other changes sought by Democrats unsuccessfully in committee that are likely to show in the form of floor amendments:

—To allow registration within ten days of an election.

—To set deadlines for a candidate's filing at 45 days prior to an election.

—To change the state's primary election to June or September.

—To keep polls open from 6 a.m. to 9 p.m.

—To provide for door-to-door registration of potential voters.

Republicans have reportedly agreed in caucus to oppose all the amendments.

Children Will Appreciate Unexpected Halloween Fun

The cats leer. The witches jeer. Spooks dance and goblins prance. It's time for Halloween! If you don't give a hoot for Halloween parties, reconsider this year. Few occasions offer little children greater opportunities for plain old-fashioned merriment. And whether you are a mother or grandmother, you will find full scope for using your own vivid imagination.

An early after-dinner gathering is an ideal time. Especially so this year. The date falls on Sunday with the observance in Circleville to be on Thursday. That leaves

OSU Mothers Association Slates Meet

The Ohio State University Mothers Association fall meeting will be held on Saturday, Oct. 30 at the University Golf Course club house, 3605 Tremont Road near Kenny Road, north of the main campus, Columbus.

Coffee will be served beginning at 9:30 a.m. followed by a business meeting. Rodney Swearingen, associate dean of students, will give a campus report. Buffet luncheon will be served. Reservations are to be made to Miss Margaret Barry, the club's executive secretary, telephone (614) 422-4161.

Principal speaker will be Dr. Richard Armitage, University Ombudsman, in the afternoon. He has a particular central role in campus affairs and will be able to give insight into current events on campus.

Any mother of a past or present O.S.U. student (main campus or any of its branches) is welcome to attend and become either a chapter member or an associate member.

The Mothers Association has 14 county chapters and Franklin County has 23 additional groups, approximately 2,000 members in the state-wide organization and has been an organized club since 1936.

The state organization meets twice a year on the O.S.U. Campus with faculty, staff and administration and this helps in understanding the university aims, problems and concerns.

County clubs yearly award scholarships to qualified students in need of financial aid. Money donated by each club is matched by O.S.U. Financial Aids Office and awarded by the latter.

For further information, contact any of the following state officers: Mrs. Fred Brengman, president, Route 7, Lancaster, Ohio 43130, telephone (614) 862-4239; Mrs. Rachel Blair, vice president, 417 18th St., NW, Canton, Ohio 44703 (216) 452-6129; Mrs. Oscar Schmidlin, secretary, 1827 Atwood Road, Toledo, Ohio 43615 (419) 536-1485; Mrs. J. Mrs. Scherer Named Member Of Test Group

Mrs. Robert D. Scherer, 610 Garden Parkway, has been named a member of the Countryside Family Test Group of Farm Journal, Inc., according to Mary Sheldon, director.

The 500 member-families who make up the group are selected for their special skills and interests in countryside living, homemaking and community work. They are located all across the country.

Countryside Test Group members help the editors by acting as a sounding board for editorial ideas and by reflecting local opinions, problems and customs. This service supplements travel and personal visits by the magazine's staffs.

These families also test products developed for use in the countryside and in the countryside home.

Farm Bureau Women Plan Rabies Clinic

Pickaway County Farm Bureau Women's Committee met recently to complete plans for the annual Rabies Clinic. The county-wide rabies vaccination program will be held on Sunday, Nov. 14 from 1 until 5 p.m.

There will be a clinic location in the following places: Ted Lewis Park shelter house, Fairgrounds coliseum, Derby Township House, Tarleton Firehouse, Williamsport Firehouse and the Ashville Firehouse. Pickaway County Veterinarian Association will again do the vaccinating. The Pickaway County Unit of the Ohio Emergency Radio Patrol will assist with the communication between sites.

Mrs. David Drum, chairman, announced the schedule of chairmen and workers at the clinic sites. She distributed the flyers to be given at the county and city schools to remind the children to bring all their pets to the clinic.

Members present at the meeting were Mrs. Drum, Mrs. Jerry Wolford, Miss Mary Clark, Mrs. William Walker, Mrs. John Stevenson and Farm Bureau Organization Director, Tom Ellifritz.

Mrs. Marion's Class Schedules Meeting

Mrs. Marion's Class of Community United Methodist Church will meet 8 p.m. Monday at the home of Lena Crites, 211 Watt St.

Assistant hostesses will be Lillian Cook, Olive Eitel and Margaret Johnson. Devotions will be by Margie Carmean. Members are to bring their miniature Bibles.

Circleville AAUW Program Vocational School Panel

A panel on vocational schools was the highlight of the October meeting of the Circleville Branch of the American Association of University Women held at the Presbyterian Church. Carolyn Fudge, a teacher at the Hayes Technical High School and a member of AAUW, introduced the program for the evening, "What's New In Education?"

Nelson Stevens, board president of the Pickaway-Ross Joint Vocational School, presented a tape and slides to describe the objectives and operations of a vocational school.

A panel of three students from Teays Valley who attended the Eastland Vocational School introduced themselves and explained their curriculums. They are Connie Welsh, a senior in the Office Machines Program and a member of the National Honor Society; Pamela Cook, a cosmetology student; and Fred Rice, a laboratory assistant who participates in sports at Teays Valley.

Questions were directed to the students and Mr. Stevens explained that the vocational curriculum would be determined by the needs of the community. Also, a student graduating from the vocational school would have enough credits to enter college if he or she desired.

During the business meeting, 12 new members were introduced bringing the total membership to 106. Used books are being donated by members and the money earned by reselling them goes to the Fellowship Program. Board members and new members were reminded of the Orientation Tea to be held Sunday, Nov. 14th at the Lutheran Church.

Refreshments were served by the hostess committee: Mrs. William Grooms, chairman; Mrs. James Baehr, Mrs. Robert Roeser, Mrs. David Case, Mrs. Harry Kern, Miss Eleanor Craig, Mrs. O. C. West, Mrs. Alan Trax, Mrs. Jack Heeter, and Mrs. Richard Sutton.

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWERY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It seems fairly certain now that the biggest hit among this season's new series is NBC's "Mystery Movie," with the segment starring Peter Falk coming on particularly strong.

Between Falk's scruffy, cigar-chomping detective and Edie Albert playing a sleek, elegant heavy, Wednesday night's "Columbo" episode was one of the best shows in the series to date.

Once the viewer gets accustomed to the menacing personality and untidy appearance of Lt. Columbo—Falk isn't exactly a romantic hero—the format of the show works well. The viewer is a witness to the crime at the opening of the 90-minute program and follows along as the clever policeman puts together the pieces of his case.

The killing this time was of a corrupt colonel by a retired Marine general—Albert—who was involved in shady deals and feared exposure. The shooting was seen from a distance by a young divorcee. The most interesting part was watching the cool military man put into operation a plan to cover his crime. He courted the girl and attempted to pull rank on the police.

Albert, after all those bucolic years in "Green Acres," had a nice change of pace as the arrogant, wily war hero.

With its weekly rotation of three shows—"Columbo," "McCloud" and "McMillan and Wife"—the series averages out as pretty satisfactory escapism entertainment, usually more concerned with puzzles than blood and guts.

CBS, which had concept and script problems with its new "Funny Face" during the summer, now is confronted with a problem potentially more difficult to handle. Star Sandy Duncan is hospitalized for examination and may require eye surgery.

Since the series was late in starting production only seven episodes are available for broadcast. In the event Miss Duncan does require surgery and a period of convalescence, the series and the network will be in a bind.

When Dorothy Malone was stricken during production of "Peyton Place" several seasons back, her role was so vital to the story that the producers brought in Lola Albright as a substitute and frankly announced before each show that Miss Albright was playing the part of Constance MacKenzie until Miss Malone was able to return.

"Funny Face," however, is built completely around the character of Sandy Duncan; a substitute would be hard to take.

Snow Grips Mountains

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Winter spread its icy grip over the Western mountain regions today dumping more than five inches of snow in Wyoming while the Southeast enjoyed fair and mild weather.

Heavy snow warnings were in effect today for portions of Arizona and Wyoming, where five inches of snow blanketed the town of Lander. Three inches of snow fell at Casper, Wyo.

The mercury plummeted to near zero during the night in Montana and cold wave warnings were in effect today for eastern Colorado, southeastern Wyoming and northwestern Nebraska.

A freeze warning was issued for western Oregon as winter-like conditions whipped the Pacific Northwest.

7 Americans Die In Combat During Week

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today that seven Americans were killed in combat in Vietnam last week, the third week in succession that less than 10 were killed.

The level is the lowest in six years.

The command's weekly casualty summary also reported 84 U.S. servicemen were wounded last week, equaling the wounded figure for the previous week.

The seven combat deaths compared with five in the previous week and eight the week before that.

The U.S. Command also reported 32 Americans died last week from accidents and illness, more than double the 15 deaths from nonhostile causes during the previous week. The toll was the highest in one week since the last week of February, when 37 such deaths were reported. A spokesman said the increase last week, was due in part to accidental helicopter crashes.

The South Vietnamese command reported 394 government troops were killed in battle last week and 700 were wounded, compared with 391 killed and 919 wounded a week earlier.

The two allied commands reported 1,271 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed, 18 more than a revised total of 1,253 for the week before.

The allied commands now have reported these total casualties for the war:

American—45,584 killed in action, 302,104 wounded, 9,860 dead from nonhostile causes.

South Vietnamese—135,010 killed in action 292,615 wounded.

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong—779,561 killed.

Davis Arrest Said Illegal

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — Angela Davis' lawyers contended Wednesday that arrest of the black Communist intellectual on murder charges was illegal because FBI agents did not actually know who she was when they picked her up.

They asserted the arrest was therefore without probable cause, was aided by illegally seized pictures and was based on a faulty warrant in the first place.

The contention is in a brief filed in Superior Court in support of a motion to suppress some evidence against Miss Davis, who is charged in connection with the Marin Civic Center shooting which took the lives of a judge and three other persons Aug. 7, 1970.

Arguments on the motion are scheduled next Monday.

Miss Davis was arrested in New York on Oct. 13, 1970.

Woman Sues Airline For Husband's Death

CHICAGO (AP)—Arlette D'Angelo, whose husband John died Aug. 27 in the crash of a Chicago & Southern Airlines plane near Cleveland, has sued the airline for $1 million damages.

D'Angelo and his copilot were practicing a simulated instrument landing when the plane plunged into a house at Fairview Park, Ohio, killing the occupant. Mrs. D'Angelo contends in the suit that the airline failed to maintain and inspect the aircraft properly.

FRIDAY'S HOROSCOPE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: During the daytime you cannot seem to bring your overall ambitions and plans to a workable success so avoid trying to do this until evening. Then you find you are able to put into action those principles that mean the most to you. The entire day is fine for art, music, beauty.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You find it difficult to express yourself properly today, so keep busy alone at whatever is of a practical nature. Try to help one who is having difficulty sledding. Show you are generous.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) One you expect too much from will certainly disappoint you today, but by evening all will work out well. Attend social events in the p.m. that will perk up your spirits. Do not be extravagant, though.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You have to labor diligently and get the okay of one who means a good deal to your financial life. The day may be rather difficult, but later all works out to your benefit. A smile and a pat on the back for others is wise.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You have to gather more data before you make a change that you are now contemplating. An out-of-town letter disturbs at first but then becomes of benefit to you. Take it easy tonight.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Although you think you have too many responsibilities, if you get at them early you find they are quickly behind you. Forget that hunch you have, since it is not accurate. P.M. is excellent for romance.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) If a partner is troublesome now, leave him strictly alone and then when temper cools, all will be fine again. Don't take any risks whatever during day. Get into that hobby in p.m. and relax.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Forget going off on some tangent and handle that work ahead of you efficiently. Don't invest in that strange item you want to add to wardrobe. Stick to the conventional and you can never go wrong.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Don't lose your temper with those at home who are not doing what you want. Permit them to learn by doing as they please. Get busy at work ahead of you and then have a good time tonight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have a habit of being too stern at home and this is a good day to mend this bad habit and think of the welfare of others. Financial help alone is not enough for kin. Dwell more on the spiritual side of life.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Get busy at jobs ahead of you instead of finding someone or something to pick on. Drive with utmost care and make sure you count your change while shopping. Don't forget to lock your doors tightly at home in p.m.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Don't try to pull a fast one on another just because you are in need of quick money. Find the right outlet that will give you more in an ethical way. Save time for one who needs your advice.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You may not be using good judgment during day but then later everything works out all right for you. You are able to gain personal aims easily. Plan how to expand early and then get wheels rolling in right direction.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those delightful young people who seems to have a veritable knack for getting into hot water early in life. Later the attitude changes and all runs more smoothly because of the religious knowledge that is acquired, which removes the streak of vengeance so strong in this nature early in life. Use a certain amount of discipline so your child will not get in with the wrong crowd. Sports will not appeal to your son, daughter.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Turkish Cabinet Quits; Sunay Won't Accept

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Premier Nihat Erim's army-backed reform government resigned early today in a maneuver to confound conservative critics, and President Cevdet Sunay refused to accept the resignation.

Sunay said Erim and his Cabinet had "full support from the Parliament, armed forces and public opinion."

Erim agreed to continue as premier.

The resignation came after a meeting Tuesday night of Erim with Sunay, Gen. Memduh Tagmac, chief of the general staff, and Justice party Chairman Süleyman Demirel.

Erim accused the conservative Justice party of blocking his proposed social and economic reforms. He also charged Demirel with getting his businessmen brothers state loans while he was premier, including a $1.2 million foreign credit.

alist China from the United Nations had an unusual impact because the United States has usually been on the winning side in U.N. confrontations.

Although Washington's built-in majority no longer exists because of the flood of new Asian and African members, the United States has usually wound up with the winners on most issues except colonialism. Most of its other defeats have been on comparatively minor issues.

The U.S. record is far better than that of the Soviet Union. Moscow has been condemned for such acts as the military intervention in Hungary, and the Soviet Union is more often than not on the losing side of U.N. votes. Britain and France have lost some major battles, too. In the Suez crisis of 1956 they had to resort to the veto to prevent condemnation by the Security Council.

The United States suffered a significant defeat after the 1967 Arab-Israeli war when it campaigned strenuously for a resolution on troop withdrawals acceptable to Israel. Both this and a rival Arab proposal failed to win the required two-thirds majority, and the emergency session of the General Assembly ended without action. Shortly after Arthur J. Goldberg became chief U.S. delegate in 1965, he managed to get the Vietnam war on the Security Council's agenda by the minimum nine votes. He decided not to press for a debate because it was apparent he could not win any sort of endorsement for American intervention.

9 out of 10 new Chryslers registered in the last 10 years are still on the road.

1962 Chrysler

That should tell you a lot about the cars we sell.

Every Chrysler Imperial is road-tested at the factory.

If our cars aren't right, we don't want you to have them. For example, every Imperial is put through a road test at the factory that includes over 100 different checks before it reaches you.

This year every Chrysler car offers a new optional electronic ignition system that does away with the points and condenser that can wear out. This helps keep the engine tuned longer. And a tuned engine means cleaner exhaust.

From our lowest-priced Chrysler Royal to our big, luxurious Imperial, Chrysler cars are built to last. The same is true of every Chrysler-engineered car we sell—Valiant, Duster, Cricket, Satellite and Fury.

We think that's the kind of car America wants. That's the kind of car we'd like to show you. Come see us today.

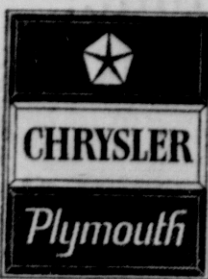

Newport Royal 2-Door Hardtop

You gotta have heart.

The quality of a Chrysler starts deep down in the heart of the car. That's where you've gotta have it. That's where you get it. With such time- and road-proven features as Chrysler's torsion-bar suspension and Torque-Flite automatic transmission. The rigid strength of unibody construction. And a 7-step dip-and-spray anti-rust process. Extra care like that is why so many Chryslers stay in great shape.

Ohio River Boundary Disputed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Commonwealth of Kentucky has filed a brief with the U.S. Supreme Court calling Ohio's claim to half the Ohio River "legally baseless."

The brief, filed Tuesday by Asst. Atty. Gen. George Rabe, cited cases from 1820 and 1890 which judicially established Kentucky's boundary as the low-water mark on the north shore of the river.

Rabe noted that both earlier decisions pointed out the territory that is now Ohio originally was a part of Virginia which was ceded to the United States in 1785 at the bequest of Congress.

He said the basis for the disputed boundary was "the language of Virginia's cession of 'the territory northwest of the river Ohio.'"

The Ohio suit was filed in 1966 for declaration of the low-water mark on the north shore of the river for purpose of locating the states' boundaries. Ohio filed an amendment to the suit last August.

Kentucky said the amendment was an entirely new argument seeking "to establish the middle of the Ohio River as the boundary between the two states on the basis of matters allegedly occurring prior to the American Revolution."

Ohio's amended complaint contends the evidence is overwhelming that the boundary line lies in the middle of the river.

Citing the original charter by which Virginia claimed the land that is now Ohio and later documents, Ohio claims that Virginia was giving away land it did not own in the Virginia Compact and Virginia's territory never went to any farther north than the middle of the Ohio River.

How The Weather Looks

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Following is the Ohio weather summary from the National Weather Service:

A sprawling low pressure system centered southwest of James Bay in Canada is pulling colder air south into the Midwest.

The cold air is turning warmer as it reaches the lower Great Lakes and Ohio Valley. Lower temperatures are forecast through Friday, but they will still be mild for the season.

Rain associated with the low is expected to remain well to the north of Ohio in Canada.

Temperatures at dawn today under clear skies were mostly in the low 50s. Lows tonight are forecast in the mid 40s.

FORECASTS

OHIO — Clear and cool tonight. Lows in the mid 40s. Friday mostly sunny and mild. Highs in the upper 60s and low 70s.

NORTHWEST INLAND, WEST LAKE SHORE, WEST CENTRAL — Clear and cool tonight. Lows in the mid 40s. Friday partly cloudy and mild. Highs 65 to 70.

EAST CENTRAL, SOUTHEAST — Clear and cool tonight. Lows about 50. Friday mostly sunny and mild. Highs 70 to 75.

CENTRAL, SOUTHWEST — Clear and cool tonight. Lows 45 to 50. Friday mostly sunny and mild. Highs 70 to 75.

Legislative Improvements Under Study

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Citizens Committee on the adopted interim guidelines for legislative improvements in three areas.

Chairman James Clark Jr. of Cincinnati said the guidelines will be used by subcommittees to:

—Examine present rules, procedures and practices of the Legislature with regard to the accessibility of the legislative process to the public.

—Review the range of services now available to the individual legislator and rules and practices of the Legislature which affect the effectiveness of members.

—Explore the present ethics and conflict of interest statutes in Ohio.

The committee was created by the Legislative Service Commission of the General Assembly under a bill enacted in 1970, to make recommendations for strengthening the effectiveness of the Legislature.

It is conducting a policy conference which continues through today.

During a discussion Wednesday of legislative ethics and conflicts of interest, Jesse Unruh, former speaker of the California House, advocated full disclosure of candidates' personal income and campaign finances.

Unruh, who unsuccessfully sought to unseat California Gov. Ronald Reagan last year, said such disclosure would enable the public to decide whether a potential conflict was acceptable.

Bucher Called Incompetent

By Navy Deputy

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — The loss of the USS Pueblo was due to the incompetence of its commanding officer, Vice Adm. Harold G. Bowen Jr. deputy assistant secretary of defense for intelligence, said Tuesday night.

He addressed 150 members of the Canton Council Navy League of the U.S. at the league's Navy Day observance.

Admiral Bowen was president of the U.S. naval court of inquiry on the USS Pueblo.

He said Commander Lloyd M. Bucher of the Pueblo was incompetent on two major counts.

He explained that Bucher gave up his ship without fighting to save it, "a cardinal error in Navy thinking," and that Bucher made a "botch" of trying to destroy the highly classified equipment on the vessel.

South Central Power Trustees Complete Tour

The annual South Central Power Company tour of the property for members of the Board of Trustees and key employees was completed Tuesday.

Because of the size of South Central's service area, and the distances involved in traveling to new installations, the tour was arranged to cover two full days of travel.

On Monday the group met at the Holiday Inn in Chillicothe and boarded a chartered bus which took them to Hillsboro to inspect the new Highland County Water Treatment Plant. The next stop was at the Paint Creek Dam, and then the group returned to Chillicothe for lunch.

After lunch, inspection was made of the Scioto Society site and of the new highway lighting installation on the Route 23 bypass. The new Union Scioto School complex and the All-Electric Pioneer school were visited before the group was returned to Chillicothe.

On Tuesday, the departure point was the Quality Court Motor Inn in Circleville. The Consumer Water Plant and the new sewage plant were the first two stops. Then the group toured Logan Elm Village and visited the Rhodes, Circle Hills and Moats developments. Logan Elm Jr. High School, the George McDowell Exchange School — a part of the Logan Elm School District — were inspected.

From there the group hopped over to Canal Winchester for a look at Merrill Industries, then dropped south to Lancaster for luncheon. Before returning to Circleville for adjournment, the Board visited Colonial Mobile Homes Court, Reynolds Metal Products and Columbus Industries near Ashville.

John W. Eakin, president of the Board of Trustees of the locally-owned power company, said: "I feel that I can speak for the entire Board of Trustees when I say that this has been the most exciting tour of the property we have ever had. Of course, we could say that about our tour each year, for each one shows us physically the forward strides being made by our company that we see only on paper during the year. It is a gratifying feeling to be a part of South Central Power Company, and to be able to report such progress to our more than 35,000 member-consumers."

Rehnquist View Of 'Leftist' Clerks Recalled

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supreme Court law clerks, as a group, are exuberant, lean to the "left" and unconsciously slant the material they prepare for the justices. This was the recollection in 1957 of nominee William H. Rehnquist, who had worked for the late justice Robert H. Jackson for 18 months.

"Some of the tenets of the 'liberal' point of view which commanded the sympathy of a majority of the clerks I knew," Rehnquist said then in a U.S. News World Report article, "were: extreme solicitude for the claims of Communists and other criminal defendants, expansion of federal power at the expense of state power, great sympathy toward any government regulation of business...."

Then 33, Rehnquist was working as a lawyer in Phoenix. He had been a law clerk to Jackson from January 1952 through July 1953. Now an assistant attorney general, he and attorney Lewis F. Powell Jr. of Richmond, Va., have been nominated by President Nixon to fill two court vacancies.

While a Justice Department press officer said Rehnquist would not discuss his current views three of his contemporaries were willing to speak of theirs, and they conflicted with Rehnquist's impressions.

Newton Minow, the former Federal Communications Commission chairman, was a clerk to the late Chief Justice Fred Vinson; Rep. Abner Mikva, D-Ill., clerked for the late Justice Sherman Minton, and Prof. Alexander M. Bickel of Yale worked for the late Justice Felix Frankfurter.

Had they found the clerks, generally, to be exuberant, leftward leaning and unconsciously slanting material?

"Certainly not," said Minow in a telephone interview from Chicago, where he is a lawyer. "I have a very high regard for Bill Rehnquist's intellect and think he is a very competent lawyer, but I don't share that view of what the law clerks thought."

Minow added: "Moreover, I think the whole question of whether law clerks influence justices is greatly exaggerated. We never had that much influence with the chief justice (Vinson). He'd listen to what we said but he'd decide it himself."

Mikva said: "I hope we were exuberant. I certainly don't know of any clerk that slanted the material."

Bickel, who countered Rehnquist's theory in print at the time, said: "I thought it was wrong, an alarmist view, chiefly because I couldn't see how the justices were influenced by their clerks. He didn't have any experience turning the Justice's (Jackson) head and I certainly did not have that experience with Frankfurter, and they both were conservative justices."

Rehnquist wrote: "The specter of the law clerk as a legal Rasputin exerting an important influence on the cases actually decided by the Court, may be discarded at once. No published biographical materials dealing with any of the Justices suggest any such influence. I certainly learned of none during the time I spent as a clerk."

However, Rehnquist contended, clerks have considerable "unconscious" influence on the justices in the way they prepare summaries of the thousands of petitions for hearings that come to the court.

"I do not believe," he wrote, "it can be denied that the possibility for influence by the clerks exists in this realm of the court's activity." Describing the clerks, Rehnquist said: "Some in their youthful exuberance permit their notions to engender a cynical disrespect for the capabilities of anyone, including justices, who may disagree with them."

Assessing clerks generally, he said he found their political cast to be to the "left" of either the nation or the court.

"I cannot speak for any clerk other than myself in stating as a fact that unconscious bias did creep into his work," Rehnquist wrote. "Looking back, I must admit that I was not guiltless on this score, and I greatly doubt if many of my fellow clerks were much less guiltless than I. And where such bias did have any effect, because of the political outlook of the group of clerks that I knew, its direction would be to the political 'left.'"

New Officers For Student Body Selected

On Oct. 15 students at Westfall elected a new student body president and vice president. The candidates and managers had spent the week speaking to various homerooms. Posters and campaign slogans appeared in various places asking students to be sure to vote.

Chuck Kennedy's campaign manager was Tim Neff. Chuck said that he would like to see the student council have more influence in school policy. He also feels that the dress code should be abolished and that the maintenance of the school must be kept up.

CHUCK KENNEDY
President

BARB YERIAN
Vice-President

Kim Long talked to students with campaign manager Mike Hegarty. Kim wants to straighten out some of Westfall's problems. She wants to keep the students more informed so teachers and students can think more alike.

Cheryl Miller kept very busy, too. Her campaign managers were Randi Long and Judy Schein. Cheryl wants to make new changes and get goals and ideas to work toward. She said that she is tired of seeing things being put off.

Barb Yerian campaigned with her manager, Monica Yates. She said that she was not promising anything, but is going to try to do what students want. If she changes anything, she said, it will be because the student body wants it.

The Mustangs would like to congratulate president Chuck Kennedy and vice-president Barb Yerian on a job well done.

Band Follows Busy Agenda

Westfall Marching Band traveled to Logan Elm for their homecoming Oct. 15. The band performed a drill to "Knock Three Times" and a lively dance to "California Dreamin'." The majorettes came on strong once again with a fire baton routine to "Light My Fire."

On Sunday, Oct. 17, the band journeyed to Bexley for the Miss America "welcome home" parade. "California Dreamin'" and "Soul Step" were played for one of the largest crowds the WHS band has ever marched before on a four mile route. The Westfall band marched second in the parade which was made up of nine bands and 65 units. Members marched behind Miss Ohio. They also had the privilege of seeing Miss America and many students were heard yelling, "See you at the Pumpkin Show!"

The band appeared at the Pumpkin Show for the 8 p.m. parades on Wednesday, Thursday, and Saturday. A concert was performed Saturday an hour before parade time at the Franklin Street platform. Candy sales are still on so band boosters should keep an eye out for band members.

Mustang Staffers Salute Week's Honored Seniors

FOUR SENIORS have been selected by the WHS for the October senior highlight. At left is Cheryl Miller, recently chosen queen of the Pumpkin Show, and Mark Hosler, a member of the marching band. Cheryl is the first girl from Westfall to win the Pumpkin Show crown since Four outstanding seniors have been chosen seniors of the week. All four make up a part of Westfall's band.

Cheryl Miller, 17, is the daughter of Robert Miller, Williamsport, and Mrs. Mary Tumeo of Columbus. She is enrolled in the college prep course of study.

Cheryl is a very active person. She is State FTA Vice-President and President of the local FTA Chapter. Oct. 1 and 2 she attended a convention in Indianapolis, Ind. She is in marching, pep, and concert band and is a majorette. When she is not twirling she will be playing the bassoon or clarinet. Cheryl is in the drama club, NHS, art club, and French Club. She is senior section editor on the annual staff, and points system chairman on GAA. She also takes part in 4-H by being a 4-H Jr. Leader, playing in the 4-H band, and being on the 4-H Jr. Fair Board.

Cheryl likes music, sports, boys, and Westfall High School. She dislikes people who ask stupid questions. Her hobbies consist of twirling, sewing, and photography. After graduation, Cheryl will be attending Ohio State University and majoring in music education.

Stephanie Garland, 17, resides with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Garland of Harrisburg. She is presently enrolled in college prep.

Stephanie participates in marching, concert, and stage band, French Club, FTA, GAA, NHS, and Mustang Country.

She likes honest people that aren't fakes and dislikes people trying to be something they aren't. She enjoys sewing, target shooting, and cooking.

Stephanie plans to attend college and major in English after graduation.

Mark Hosler, age 17, is better known as "Herbie" or "Hoss". He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ned Hosler, Orient, and is enrolled in college prep.

Mark is in marching, concert, and stage band, science club, Darby Fine and Dandy 4-H Club, and is also a member of "The Organization."

Mark likes music, sports, and nice girls and dislikes the disorganized manner in which Westfall High School is run. His hobbies include playing the cornet, raising cattle, and rolling houses.

After graduation, he plans to attend Ohio State University and major in music. John Scott Riddle, 17, resides

New Frosh Cheerleaders Are Chosen

Freshmen class members elected cheerleaders at a recent class meeting. Those chosen were Kathy Alkire, Connie Drummond, Janie Henson, Karen Marshall, Cindy Schleich, and Lynn Stillings.

When asked what she thought of being elected to this position, Kathy Alkire, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gail Alkire, Mt. Sterling, said, "I was really happy."

Connie Drummond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Drummond, Clarksburg, stated, "I am very happy, excited and thrilled."

Janie Henson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Henson, Circleville, replied "I think it's great because I love to cheer."

Karen Marshall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Marshall, Circleville, replied, "I will try my best to do a good job."

Lynn Stillings, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Stillings, Orient, said, "I am very happy and proud to have been chosen."

Cindy Schleich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Schleich, Williamsport, remarked, "I will do my best to cheer the Mustang teams to victory."

These girls will lead cheers at the freshman basketball games.

Miss Garland Is Semi-Finalist

Ed Holmes, guidance counselor at Westfall High School, announced that Miss Stephanie Garland, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Garland, Harrisburg, has just received notice that she has been selected as a semi-finalist of the National Achievement Scholarship Program for Outstanding Negro Students. This is a program sponsored by the NMSQT (National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test Corporation).

Stephanie, who is also a National Honor Society member at Westfall, will be eligible upon completion of the SAT (Scholastic Aptitude Test) for a variety of scholarships offered by colleges and universities plus private industry.

She has already received scholarship information from four Ohio colleges as a result of being a semi-finalist in this program.

Queen Kim Long Heads WHS October Homecoming Court

HOMECOMING — Queen Kim Long, seated, joins the rest of her court who were named for Westfall's Oct. 8 Homecoming. Her attendants, shown from left to right, are: Janet Schleich, Carla Liston, Marilyn Keller and Becky Shannon.

1971 Westfall Homecoming got off to a great start Oct. 8, when Westfall ripped Zane Trace 28 to 0. During pre-game Kim Long, senior daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Long, New Holland, was crowned queen by

Kim's court consisted of four seniors: Janet Schleich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Schleich, Becky Shannon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shannon, Carla Liston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Liston, and Marilyn Keller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Keller.

Saturday, a dance was held by the senior class honoring the queen, court, football players and everybody. Featuring the Mod Quad, the dance was a great success. It was probably the largest Westfall has had. The theme, "Fall Scenes," proved a colorful atmosphere for the gaily decorated cafeteria. With soft lights, perfect music, and one's favorite date, a good time was had by all.

Freighter Available

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Pennsylvania surgeon doesn't know what to do with an old freighter he bought for $2,000. "I need a vessel about as much as I need another patient," Dr. Sidney Runyon of Lancaster, Pa., said after his bid was the only one at a dock-side auction.

NEW FAMILY — Fernando Mayas, left, an exchange student at Westfall High, joins his adopted family Eileen Easterday, her daughter Amy, Bill Easterday, son Marc and daughter Becky.

Exchange Student Is New At WHS

A new and interesting character can be found at Westfall this year.

Fernando Maya, an International Fellowship Exchange student from Quito, Ecuador is the son of Jorge and Carmela de Suarez. He is 18-years-old and is currently a member of the senior class at Westfall High School.

Fernando will be the "son" of Bill and Eileen Easterday of Williamsport in the Westfall School District during the 1971-72 school year and will return to Ecuador next June.

In Quito, Fernando has one brother and two sisters. One sister is married and has a daughter. At the Easterdays, he has one brother, Marc, and two sisters, Becki and Amy.

The Easterdays are delighted to have Fernando as a member of their family and they are discovering it to be a rich and rewarding experience.

Fine Pheasant Crop Reported In Texas

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologists in the panhandle are predicting a good crop of pheasants by the time hunting season rolls around Dec. 11.

July and August roadside counts conducted by biologists showed that 54 per cent of the hen pheasants had broods tagging along behind.

Biologists said each brood averaged 5.25 chicks.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Obscene Calls No Laughing Matter

DEAR ABBY: My son, 16, makes obscene telephone calls. I heard him make one of those calls the other day and confronted him immediately. He told me he had done it several times and thinks it's "funny."

I received an obscene phone call many years ago, and I know it's no laughing matter. I have tried to impress this upon my son without success.

I can't prevent him from using the phone, and there is no way I can check on him. I am hoping he will outgrow it, but he seems to take a perverse pleasure in this hobby of his. I hate to see him upset anyone, and of course, I hope he doesn't run into any difficulties with the police. Have you any suggestions?

MRS. M.C.: Your son's "hobby" is not as innocuous as you seem to think. It is an indication that he could have serious emotional problems. I urge you to somehow manage to have your son examined psychiatrically. At 16, he's no longer a "boy"; he's a young man who desperately needs help.

DEAR ABBY: The other evening, around midnight, I was awakened by a police car's lights and the police radio next door to my home. Knowing the boy of 15 and his sister, 13, were home alone because their parents had gone to a party, I went outside and offered my help. The two officers said, "Thank you, but it's a false alarm." The parents arrived home half an hour later so I knew all was well.

The next day the neighbor children told my youngster that when their parents are at parties, they always call the police and report a "prowler" around their home just to see how quickly the police will respond.

I was tempted to inform the police about this little scheme but decided against it. How many times can a person cry "wolf"?

ANOTHER MOTHER: DEAR MOTHER: Not many more after the police get wise. And they will, if this stunt is pulled very often.

DEAR ABBY: I have one master's and two doctorates, but that doesn't mean I know all the answers.

My question: How can I discourage the friendship of a couple who call constantly, inviting my husband and me over?

Names Create Atmosphere

This week the reporters of Mustang Country ventured onto a new topic — nicknames. Some of our answers were rather surprising!

Tim H. — Hot Lips; Steve W. — Winnie the Pooh; John R. — Sky King; Chuck S. — Toro; Janet S. — Big 10; Rick F. — Snake; Mark H. — Herbie; Cheryl M. — Cam; Gene G. — Shep;

Maynard M. — Marge; Jay W. — Low; Tim N. — Nifty Neff; Jim W. — Jew; Carol C. — Crum; Jill L. — Cleaver; Wendy N. — Wendall; John M. — Jelly legs; Rae F. — Big; Beckie E. — Little;

John D. — Pappy; Kim F. — Mouse; Melody M. — Kay-kay; Kay H. — Short stuff; Pam W. — Map; Sonny L. — Sonny honey; Beth B. — Peanut; David B. — Crow; Larry H. — Beef;

Cross Country Shows Promise

Westfall Cross Country team has shown the best quality of any team since the school was built in 1963. The only cross country team the Mustangs have ever run against that seems to be better is that of Circleville.

The Mustangs' record is four wins and three losses this season. The team is the only winning cross country team in Westfall's history. The top runner is "Wild" Bill Blaney who is usually followed closely by Rick Metzger. Team members adding to the outstanding line-up are Chuck Kennedy, Steve Johnson, Rick McKenzie, Carl Fuller, and Rick Kennedy.

Team members are very thankful for their coach, Mr. Dale Thompson, who they consider their "fine coach and friend." There is a good chance of high state placement this year for the team.

We are in education and so are they, but they are the world's biggest bores! If I never had to see this couple again socially we would be delightfully liberated. I have run out of excuses.

CHICKEN: DEAR CHICKEN: Phony excuses and insincere regrets convey false hope. In the future, simply say, "Thank you for the invitation, but we can't make it."

DEAR ABBY: For three years I've been working as a volunteer in a home for the aged. One of my jobs is reading letters for folks who cannot read.

I simply cannot understand why so many of these letters contain nothing but a detailed report of the writer's aches and pains. Or their husband's job problems, or their children's problems, or financial problems. And they invariably end with, "... and how are you?"

These elderly folks need to be cheered up — not depressed. Will you please print this letter and remind those who write to the sick and elderly to please soft-pedal the bad news and to try to brighten their day?

And by the way, Abby, almost every town has homes for the elderly which could use some volunteers. Maybe you can help them recruit a few. Thank you.

Judgeship Fight Ends

CINCINNATI (AP) — Only one extra judge will be elected to the Hamilton County Municipal Court during the general election next Tuesday.

The legal spat over how many judges should be added to the court ended Tuesday when Judge Timothy S. Hogan of the U.S. District Court dismissed a suit filed by three candidates for judgeships.

The suit asked that the Municipal Court be expanded from its current nine judges to 13, but dismissal of the litigation means there will be only one judge added to court. The Ohio Supreme Court ruled recently the Municipal Court is entitled to only one extra judge.

Hogan said that "no court may governmentally or otherwise, create a court or a judgeship. Only a legislature may." He said the Ohio Constitution provides that the judicial power of the state is to be set up by the legislature, and added that the U.S. Supreme Court has urged federal courts not to enter into state affairs.

The plaintiffs — current Municipal Court Judge Paul Gilday, and attorneys William Felberhoff and E. Winter McCroon — contended that the Ohio Supreme Court decision deprives all voters and taxpayers in Hamilton County of their constitutional rights to equal protection and privileges.

Cincy Youth Gets Probation In Slaying Case

CINCINNATI (AP) — A Cincinnati youth, who pleaded guilty to fatally striking a fellow high school student with a baseball bat, has been placed on five-years probation.

Guy Thompson, 18, was put on probation by Judge Robert Kraft of the Hamilton County Common Pleas Court. Kraft said Tuesday that he sentenced Thompson following a confidential probation report and statements by Thompson's attorney.

Thompson pleaded guilty Sept. 3 to a first-degree manslaughter charged in the death of Stephen Howarth, 16, of Cincinnati. Both were attending Courter Tech High School Jan. 21 when the incident occurred.

Howarth, waiting for a bus, was struck on the head by the bat which was held from the window of a passing car. Thompson said he intended to strike Howarth on the hand.

Sneek-A-Peek

By Pickaway County Library Staff

This is the season for stories about witches, ghost and mysteries. The Children's Room has many good books to help you get in the mood for Halloween. Two of the books are new.

"The Upstairs Witch and the Downstairs Witch" lived in an old Victorian house in San Francisco. Wanda, upstairs, had occasional fits of tidiness. But Wendy, downstairs, loved clutter, dust and good old-fashioned dirt. Then they had a narrow escape. A prospective buyer almost purchased the house when he was shown Wanda's clean quarters. Before the sale was completed Wanda and Wendy worked hard redecorating the place with more debris, cobwebs and what trash they could find. They furnished it with a mouse, a snake and a bat. Susan Terris' story is full of fun, and illustrations by Olivia H. Cole are sheer delight. Wanda and Wendy are really two little girls dressed in clothes from an old attic trunk.

Witches and ecology do mix. Janet McCaffery proves it in "The Swamp Witch". Fifiella is famous for her witches brew, but she soon uses up all the available ingredients. A small mole helps her solve her problem and the swamps too. Miss McCaffery has also done the illustrations for her story.

Some old favorite still available include "The Witchy Broom" and "Weeny Witch" by Ila DeLage. Both of these delightful stories are about a witch who gets into trouble because of her broom. In one case a farmer and his wife become involved. In the other Wendy Witch discovers that she is really a night fairy.

Clancy was delighted because the house next door was finally sold. He hoped that a boy his age would move in. But when the moving van arrived it contained only seven pots and thirteen brooms. Then a telephone company man arrived to take away the telephone. And the electric company man arrived to take out all the wires in the house. Exactly at midnight the whole neighborhood saw lights in the windows and heard the phone and door bell ringing. It was quite a puzzle. Read "Clancy's Witch" by Emilie Warren McLeod.

"Ghost in the Castle" by William MacKellar is the story of a young Scottish boy who does not believe in ghosts. That is he doesn't until he meets Mr. MacSpurtrie. This book will be of special interest to older boys and girls.

Also available in the Children's Room are many mystery stories by some popular writers of children's mysteries. Search the shelves for a good mystery by one of these authors: Helen Fuller Orton, Fredric Martin, Jeanette MacKenzie, John Rambeau and Alan Stone.

New Police Microfilm Setup To Aid In Apprehensions

CINCINNATI (AP)—A new microfilm system, instantly providing mug shots of certain criminals, will be put into service by the Cincinnati Police Department early in 1972.

Lt. Col. William Bracke, Technical Services Bureau commander for the police department, said Cincinnati will be the first city in Ohio to utilize the system and one of only about 18 cities throughout the country which have it.

"The Recordak Miracode Syst" was described at a press preview here Wednesday and some of the system's equipment was displayed.

Bracke said that unlike those in other cities, the system here will also be used to aid in rapid identification of fingerprints.

Being coded for the system are the mug shots, records and fingerprints of about 20,000 persons arrested in the area in recent years on felony or certain misdemeanor charges.

Lt. James Stout, Criminal-Statistics Section commander, explained how the system worked. He cited as an example a robbery victim in another city who was describing a gunman to a detective.

The woman was able to tell the detective the robber's race, hair color, approximate height and weight and build, and the fact that he had a large scar on the left cheek, Stout said.

The detective led the woman in front of a machine with a screen that resembled a small television set. A police specialist inserted a roll of microfilm into the machine and punched a numbered row of buttons after receiving facts about the robber's description, Stout explained.

A counter on the machine stopped at the number "12," "this means that there are 12 robbery suspects we know of who fit the description you gave us," the specialist told the woman.

Then the mug shots of the 12 men were shown one by one, and the woman said the 10th Saltcreek Grange Theme Announced

"Coffee Cup and Cookie" is the theme of the Saltcreek Valley Grange program for Tuesday.

At this meeting each member is to bring his favorite drinking cup and also bring his favorite cookie for refreshments following the meeting.

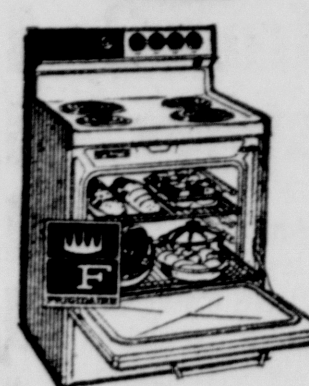

The lecturer has announced that the delegates to the Ohio State Convention, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bidwell, will also be present to give their report on convention sessions.

Members are reminded that the meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. due to the time change.

Golfers Battle For Magic Spot Above Cutoff Limit

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — There's a quietly desperate battle going on deep in the ranks of golf's touring pros. It involves positions on the official money list—not the well-publicized fight for No. 1 between Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino and Arnold Palmer—but the struggle for 50th place, the cutoff spot for determining exemptions for next year's tour. The ones who don't make it and aren't otherwise qualified have to join the ranks of the Monday qualifiers, the scores and scores of players who must fight for a handful of spots on the Mondays preceding the start of each regular PGA event.

"That's probably the toughest thing we have to do out here, those Mondays," said Jimmy Jamieson, who made it last year and is in danger of losing his spot this season. Jamieson made his comment before teeing off today in the first round of the $135,000 Sahara Invitational Open Golf Tournament.

"Getting away from Mondays sure smooths out your putting stroke," said Bill Garrett, an exempt player this season but almost certain to drop back into the rabbit ranks next year. "You can go into a tournament with an entirely different frame of mind."

The make-up of the 144-man field for this event, one of the last five on the schedule this season and thus one of the last five chances the players have of securing their exemptions, is indicative.

Only five of the top 10 money winners are on hand, with the rest taking a break or competing abroad.

But of the 25 players grouped between Nos. 50 and 75 on the list, generally speaking the ones in the fight for the exemptions, all but one are playing. The only absentee from that list is No. 67, Jon Lotz. He tried to make it but failed to qualify.

A major turnover is certain. At least 18 of the top 60 from a year ago are in jeopardy.

Jim Colbert is the man in the hot seat, holding down the 60th position. He has $33,045 and it appears that it will take a minimum of $37,000 to make it.

Among some of the veterans who are in great danger, who would almost have to win a tournament to make it, are dapper Doug Sanders, former Masters champ Bob Goalby, former Western Open titlest Hugh Royer and Howie Johnson.

Tony Jacklin, Orville Moody and Al Geiberger also are almost certain to miss, but all former U.S. Open and PGA National champions hold lifetime exemptions.

rest of the Tigers are in good shape.

"We know that Washington C.H. is a good squad," Tiger Coach Denny Williams commented, "and we will have our work cut out for us."

The Lions are a strong, physical team with a balanced attack.

They operate from a wishbone T and have a fine quarterback in Steve Ross. Ross is a good passer and likes to run with the ball which he does with excellent results.

Bill Junk and Chuck Wilson provide a sound running attack for the Lions and both boys are great pass receivers.

The Fayette County lads use a 6-1 defense and like to punish the opposition.

OFFENSIVELY the Tigers will go with Captain Don Valentine at tight end and Dave Webb at split end.

Mark Davey and Greg Williams will hold down the tackle posts with Gary Mogan and Kenny Temple at the guards.

Craig Allison will be over the ball.

Dave Truex will be the quarterback, Tom Shea at left half, Mike Chelkowski at right half and Rich Speakman the fullback.

On defense it will be Mogan and Tom Frericks at the ends, Greg Williams and Doug Spangler the tackles and Mark Davey will be the middle guard. Mike Hamrick and Valentine will be the linebackers with Jeff Harr, Chelkowski, Webb and Truex making up the secondary.

Detroit Lions Attend Rites For Hughes

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Chuck Hughes of the Detroit Lions, who died after collapsing in the game he had known since he was a schoolboy, was buried here Wednesday.

A wreath in the shape of a football helmet rested beside his casket as the entire Detroit team attended the solemn graveside service.

His pretty widow, Sharon, the mother of a 23-month-old son, kept her head bowed as a Roman Catholic priest said the final rites.

A tiny woman, she looked even smaller as Hughes' husky teammates lined up afterward to offer, one by one, their condolences.

The Lions sent 66 men, including all 49 players, to pay their last respects to Hughes. Head coach Joe Schmidt said it was "the least we could do" for the young player and his family.

Hughes died at 28 Sunday of a heart attack due to undetected arterial disease. He collapsed before more than 54,000 spectators as he returned to the huddle during game against the Chicago Bears.

A wide receiver, he had caught a pass only three plays before he fell to the field. Hughes became a star when he played for the University of Texas at El Paso in the mid 1960s. He set several school and national records.

Hughes met his wife, a homecoming queen, at UT-El Paso.

Relatives said she chose San Antonio for the burial because she plans to live here, even though Hughes worked in El Paso in the off-season. She is a San Antonio native.

N.C. Central, UCLA Under Probation

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The University of California at Los Angeles and North Carolina Central University are under probation today each for one year, for athletic recruiting irregularities.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association announced the probations Wednesday through its Council, meeting here in its fall sessions.

Both universities were reprimanded and censured but the probations, which will end Oct. 26, 1972, were without penalty.

Delaware Holds Thin Grid Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Delaware Blue Hens won a battle, but lost some ground in their fight to remain No. 1 in poll.

The Blue Hens, despite a convincing 47-8 victory over West Chester last weekend, had their top-ranked lead shaved to a mere 10 points over second-place McNeese State. The Cowboys from Louisiana, 17 points off the pace last a week ago, were idle Saturday.

The Associated Press' panel of sports writers and broadcasters gave Delaware 10 first place votes and a total of 288 points to McNeese State's three and 278.

Akron, which whipped No. 8 Southern Illinois, moved from fourth to third with two No. 1 votes and 258 points. Southern Illinois dropped out of the blue ribbon group.

Eastern Michigan, No. 4 last week, dropped to No. 5 and North Dakota State, a recent

Harry Dalton Takes Over As Angels General Manager

ANAHEIM (AP) — Harry Dalton, given much of the credit for building Baltimore's American League dynasty, has accepted the task of lifting the California Angels out of the rubble of a disastrous season.

Dalton, 43, the Orioles' vice president in charge of player personnel since 1966, was given a five-year contract at undisclosed salary Wednesday to become the Angels' general manager and executive vice president.

The announcement was made by Bob Reynolds, Angels president and Gene Autry, board chairman. They reportedly began negotiating with Dalton at least a month before Dick Walsh was fired as the American League club's general manager a week ago.

Reynolds said Dalton is "used to winning" and hailed him as "one of the architects of the Orioles' success."

Dalton said in Baltimore he was "unhappy to leave the Orioles" but added, "I sincerely believe that we have a chance to make this (the Angels) one of the strongest franchises in the American League."

He is joining a team that started the 1971 season with high hopes and ended up a distant fourth in the AL West, torn by dissension and playing to sparse crowds. Manager Harold "Lefty" Phillips was fired two weeks before Walsh.

Dalton said it may be "three or four weeks" before he is ready to decide on Phillips' successor.

Leading candidates are believed to be Del Rice, who managed the Angels' Salt Lake City farm club to the Pacific Coast League championship this year, and Baltimore coach Billy Hunter.

"I am very high on Billy Hunter's ability," Dalton said, "but any stories suggesting that he will be the manager are premature."

The name of Orioles Manager Earl Weaver also has been mentioned, Dalton said he considers Weaver "the best manager in the league," but added, "He's under contract to the Orioles and I would not think of trying to take him away."

Erich Barnes Moves To Free Safety Spot

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Thirty-six-year-old veteran Erich Barnes was named Wednesday by Cleveland Browns Coach Nick Skorich to open at Mike Howell's free safety post in Sunday's home game with the Atlanta Falcons.

"Erich is a strong tackler," explained Skorich. "He also has a lot of drive and spirit in there."

"We believe that his presence on the field helps the team. He has been working some at the free safety in practice and shouldn't have trouble with the assignments."

Intentional grounding of a forward pass is being more strictly enforced this season in the National Football League.

upset victim of North Dakota, dipped from No. 5 to No. 6. Tennessee State moved from No. 9 to No. 7 and Louisiana Tech went from 10th to eighth. Western Kentucky moved into the rankings as No. 9 and Tampa plunged from a tie for sixth to No. 10 after losing to Villanova 24-3.

The top Ten teams in The Associated Press college division football poll with first place votes, season records and total points on a 20-18-14-12-10-9-8 etc. basis:

1. Delaware 10 6-0 288
2. McNeese State 3 6-0 278
3. Akron 2 6-0 258
4. Eastern Michigan 5-0-1 233
5. North Dakota 1 5-2 186
6. N. Dakota St. 6-1 139
7. Tennessee St. 5-1 124
8. Louisiana Tech 5-1 124
9. Western Kentucky 5-1 111
10. Tampa 4-2 55

Southwest Texas State also received one first-place vote.

Canadiens Defeat Boston Bruins, 5-2

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
We did it before and we can do it again.

The Montreal Canadiens may have chanted that as they took the ice against Boston in the National Hockey League Wednesday night and went on to whip the Bruins 5-2.

It was the first meeting between the clubs since the underdog Canadiens upset the favored Bruins in the Stanley Cup playoffs last season and went on to win the coveted Cup themselves.

Meet The Vikings

Chuck Gitt (14) and Gary Hines (80) are members of the Teays Valley High School football team. Gitt, a freshman, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Gitt, 177 W. Main St., Ashville, and Hines, a sophomore, is the son of Mr. Charles E. Hines, Route 1, Ashville.

Tigers Battle Lions In Parents Night Contest

Circleville will be out to get back on the winning trail Friday night when they host a powerful Washington C.H. team before a parents' night crowd.

The Blue Lions, 3-1 in the South Central Ohio League and 5-2 for the season, will throw everything in the book at the Tigers in an effort to stay in the title race.

Miami Trace leads the league with a 4-0 record but will host the Hurricane of Wilmington who is also still in the title picture with a 3-1 mark.

For Circleville it will be a pride game as the Tigers will be out to prove they are still a solid club despite last week's loss at Miami Trace.

PETE Bowers, Circleville's tough little guard, suffered a slight concussion and will not see action Friday night. Outside of some bumps and bruises the

Prexy 'Vote'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An upcoming campus election at Ohio State University to determine who students favor for school president got a boost Wednesday from state Sen. William Bowen, D-9 Cincinnati.

But Bowen told about 700 students attending a rally that in order for the referendum to be worth anything, at least 20,000 students would have to participate in the voting. There are about 40,000 students on campus.

The student government has scheduled a primary election Dec. 1-2 and a general election Dec. 9. No candidates have been named as yet.

OSU President Novice Fawcett is retiring. The Board of Trustees has appointed a selection committee, comprised partly of students, to recommend a successor.

Backers of the campuswide vote proposal contend that students don't really have a say in the selection of the new president, since the trustees are not obligated to accept the committee's recommendation.

Power, Not Speed Marks NFL Backs

NEW YORK (AP) — Power has apparently replaced speed as the prime asset for National Football League running backs, according to weekly statistics issued today.

Baltimore's hard-driving fullback, Norm Bulaich, tops the American Football Conference—and all of pro football—in rushing with 503 yards in just 77 carries, a 6.5 average.

Another power runner, Steve Owens of Detroit, tops the National Football Conference with 484 yards. The former Heisman Trophy winner from Oklahoma has carried the ball 106 times for a 4.6 average.

In fact, there's not a single speed merchant among the leaders in either conference. Larry Csonka of Miami, Marv Hubbard of Oakland and Jim Kwik of Miami trail Bulaich in the AFC, while Lary Brown of Washington and Ken Willard of San Francisco rank behind Owens in the NFC.

Dallas' Roger Staubach replaced Detroit's Greg Landry as the statistical passing leader in the NFC this week, while Len Dawson of Kansas City replaced Miami's Bob Griese in the AFC.

Rookie Bill Parks of San Diego paces the AFC in receiving with 29 catches, two more than Kansas City's Otis Taylor.

Seniors Golf Tourney Enters 2nd Round

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Spec Goldman of Dallas, Tex., and Tom Draper of Troy, Mich., are the favorites in the North and South Seniors golf tournament now that medalist Curtis Person of Memphis, Tenn., has been eliminated.

Roy Palmer of Grosse Isle, Mich., defeated Person 2 and 1 Wednesday in the first round of match play in the championship flight of 16. Goldman has won the event three times.

Warren Harding, 7-0-0, leads region 1 in Class AAA, Steubenville Catholic, 7-0-0, is No. 1 in region 7 in class AA and Marion Pleasant, 7-0-0, ranks first in Class A region 10.

The OHSAA ratings compiled by a Columbus firm are based on toughness of a team's schedule and those of its opponents.

Other Class AAA leaders this week are Upper Arlington in region 2, Akron Garfield in region 3 and Cincinnati Moeller in region four.

In Class AA Cleveland Holy Name is ahead in region 5, Oregon Stritch in region 6 and Springfield Shawnee in region 8.

The other Class A pacesetters are Lorain Catholic in region 9, Newark Catholic in region 1 and Covington in region 12.

The ratings are being conducted on an experimental basis this season. The OHSAA hopes they are used to determine state semifinals in proposed football playoffs.

Ellis Fights Sickle Cell Disease

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dock Ellis, the hottest pitcher in the National League during the first half of the season, says his second half collapse could have been caused by sickle cell anemia.

The Pittsburgh Pirate star told a Senate subcommittee Wednesday he has suffered from the genetic disease since he was 8 years old.

Sickle cell anemia, which occurs predominantly among blacks, causes fatigue, weakness and recurrent episodes in pain, according to Dr. Roland B. Scott of Howard University.

"It's pointed out that I have a chronic arm problem," said Ellis. "I don't know if it can be caused by sickle cell anemia."

Ellis and John Henry Johnson former running back of the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League, were among those testifying before the subcommittee on public health.

The subcommittee is holding a hearing on a bill introduced by Sen. John V. Tunney D-Calif., which would authorize a pilot diagnostic program in the District of Columbia for prevention and treatment of sickle cell anemia.

Berger Building Program Slowed; Reid Returned

Meeting of the Berger Hospital governing board Wednesday evening was short on discussion of major topics. Plans for a building program remain in committee stage, with no decisive action required.

A report on expansion project revealed that a survey was required of the hospital site to provide the architect with accurate drawings of the building and grounds. More information should be forthcoming in time for the November meeting.

Most of the committee reports were delayed because of the recent illness of hospital administrator, John Reid, present at the Wednesday meeting after his first day returning to work, told the board of governors that his collapse two weeks ago had been caused by the presence of scar tissue near an injury he had received as a youth. His doctors reported that the injury should cause the administrator no more problems in the future.

During his confinement in University Hospital, Reid claimed he had plenty of time to compare the unit with Circleville's and would match local nursing care with that of the Columbus hospital.

HE also commended the Berger Hospital staff for the quality of operation of the hospital during his absence.

A unanimous vote of members present approved a constitutional change in the hospital bylaws, allowing any physician licensed by the State of Ohio who meets Berger Hospital's qualifications to practice here. This will open the way for Berger to accept the offer of a Doctor of Osteopathy to serve weekdays in the hospital emergency room while building a practice here. The medical staff had recently adopted the constitution change.

A survey of the telephone system brought a few minor changes, Red noted, but consideration of a new system was considered unfeasible. The examination revealed that the current system was best offered for the price and considering the limitations of the area telephone system.

Norma Gulick was appointed full-time supervisor of the emergency room due to the recent illness of Connie Boldosier.

The Edson-Bowsher estate was discussed by the board, but no action taken awaiting further developments.

Hospital operation shows an increase in September over the previous month, and October tallies now at 65 per cent. During September there were 222 total admissions, 43 more than in 1970 the same month. New-born citizens tallied 42. During the 30 day period, the emergency room saw and treated 839 patients, making a total for the year to date 6,682. October 30 marks the first full year the emergency room physicians, formerly ERMA and now identified as EMAI — Emergency Medical Assn., Inc. — have been employed at Berger Hospital.

Assembled at the meeting Wednesday were Reid, Russ Palm, Henry Schroeder, Harry Clifton, Richard Gerhardt, Bob Huffer, Dr. Robert Phillips, Howard Koch, Dr. Alvarez and Joy Myers, guild representative.

Hijacked Jet Passenger Hits Inaction Of Marshals

SAN JUAN (AP) — The passengers and most of the crew of the hijacked American Airlines 747 jumbo jet arrived in San Juan Wednesday night, and one of them who witnessed the hijacking said at no time did he see any action from the three sky marshals or the off-duty FBI man who were aboard.

pg. 1 about 36,000 prisoners of war, a little more than 8,000 of them North Vietnamese. The U.S. Defense Department lists 462 known American prisoners of war—378 in North Vietnam, 79 in South Vietnam, three in Laos and two in China. Another 1,176 Americans are listed as missing in action.

Hopes for prisoner exchanges were given impetus three weeks ago when the Viet Cong released the first American they have set free in nearly two years, Sgt. John C. Sexton Jr., of Warren, Mich. The Viet Cong indicated they would welcome reciprocal action, and three days later South Vietnam freed a North Vietnamese.

The Chicago Tribune reported today that some Republican senators say they have been told by officials of the Nixon administration that Fitzsimons General Hospital in Denver had been alerted to handle up to 200 returning U.S. POWs soon. The White House, the Pentagon and the hospital all denied that any such alert had been issued.

The Saigon Defense Ministry said 442 of the prisoners to be released Sunday are "in good health" while 176 are disabled. They will be freed in small groups all over the country, said Lt. Col. Du Thanh Nhut, chief spokesman for the ministry.

lines 747 jumbo jet arrived in San Juan Wednesday night, and one of them who witnessed the hijacking said at no time did he see any action from the three sky marshals or the off-duty FBI man who were aboard.

Marvin W. Schwartz, a freelance photographer from New York, said the first he knew that any such protection was aboard was after the landing at Havana. He said a voice called over the loudspeaker for the federal agents to come forward, but "no one made a move."

Two American jetliners sent to Havana Wednesday afternoon brought 230 passengers and seven crew members to San Juan. They appeared in good health and lively spirits after their two-day detour through Cuba.

The Federal Aviation Administration said the jumbo jet was expected to arrive in San Juan later today.

Schwartz said the hijack took place about 40 minutes after the plane took off from New York Monday night for Puerto Rico. He said the hijacker was about 25 years old, 5 feet 4 inches tall and wore dungarees with a Puerto Rican flag sewn on one leg.

The photographer said he tried to speak to the man in English and Spanish, but got only the clipped reply: "I don't want to say anything." Enrique Burgos, a San Juan lawyer aboard the flight, said the hijacker was "Puerto Rican who couldn't find work in New York."

Schwartz said he was about four feet from the stewardess who was taken hostage. He said the hijacker held a fountain pen under a blanket and told the girl he wanted to go to Havana.

An FAA spokesman in Washington had said Monday night that three sky marshals and an off-duty FBI agent were aboard the plane. Another passenger, Robert Callaghan, a former Navy officer, said Cuban officials handed over a revolver believed to be the hijack weapon and six bullets to "an FBI officer" a few moments before they left Havana for San Juan. The FBI office in San Juan refused to comment.
